United States Offers To Destroy Atomic Bombs and Share Secrets Under International Safeguards

Baruch Outlines American Position before U. N. Commission

MAJOR NATIONS MUST GIVE UP VETO POWER

U. S. Will Hold Monopoly in Atomic until Conditions Are Met

By MAX HARRISON

NEW YORK, June 14 (AP)—The United States today offered to destroy the store of atomic bombs and share the atomic secrets for peaceful use if the world would set up adequate safeguards to make sure this weapon never again could be used as an instrument of war.

These safeguards included:

1. Surrender of the veto power by the five major nations on all matters pertaining to atomic development.

2. Creation of an international atomic development authority with absolute power over atomic raw materials and production.

3. Adoption of international laws "with teeth" providing for severe punishment of violators on a basis to be determined by the United Nations.

The United States position was outlined before the opening session of the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission by Bernard M. Baruch, United States representative on the twelve-nation security council agency.

The white-haired 75-year-old Baruch made it clear in his historic statement that the United States would hold a monopoly in the atomic field until the conditions are met.

Senate Would Be Judge When that time finally comes, he said, the United States would be willing to agree that the manufacture of atomic bombs shall stop, all existing bombs shall be destroyed and the authority shall be given full information "as to the know-how for the production of atomic energy."

Baruch emphasized, however, that the United States would take these steps only after the nations had joined in a pact to outlaw the atomic bomb as an instrument of war and had ratified treaties for adequate control and punishment of violators.

This means that the United States would not yield her atomic secrets until the Senate approved by two-thirds vote all treaties embodying these terms. Thus, the Senate would be the judge of whether proper guarantees had been set up.

The delegation listened solemnly as Baruch, pronouncing his words slowly and distinctly, laid down his proposals for outlawing the lethal atomic and expressed hope that the commission eventually would be able to bar the use of other terrible weapons, such as gas and bacteriological bombs.

"Before a country is ready to relinquish any winning weapons," Baruch asserted, "it must have more than words to reassure it. It must have a guarantee of safety, not only against the offenders in the atomic area, but against the illegal users."

Gen. Mihailovic Confesses He Collaborated with Italians

Stassen Assails Activities of Reds and Reactionaries

Chetnik Leader, Confronted with Letter, Makes Admission

By WILLIAM B. KING

DES MOINES, June 14 (AP)—Harold Stassen, former Minnesota governor, struck out tonight at the activities of "Communists within this country" and "extreme reactionaries."

"It is my view that those who treasonably and persistently follow the line of some country other than their own do not serve the interests of either their country or mankind," he declared in remarks prepared for the first national convention of the American Veterans' Committee.

"Specifically, I believe, that the activities of the Communists within this country since the end of the war have been harmful to the United States and also harmful to Russia and have injured the cause of world peace," he said. "They have added to the suspicions and misunderstandings."

"Equally the extreme reactionaries who have fomented distrust and distorted news, and brought out a stream of vilifications, have been a twin obstacle to the development of friendly relationships on a sound basis."

Stassen, regarded in political quarters as a possible Republican candidate for president in 1948, opened a forum discussion of the veteran's responsibility in the world. The AVC, one of the organizations which grew out of World War II, claims 60,000 members in forty-four states.

Stassen urged that veterans as a whole "maintain an alert interest and come to grips with the most difficult problems of world policy."

He particularly urged the AVC to give attention to four phases of world affairs.

1. The development and strengthening of the United Nations and the use at an early date of the amendment convention procedure included in the United Nations Charter.

BELGRADE, June 14 (AP)—Gen. Dr. Mihailovic admitted wearily today that he had collaborated with the prosecution that he had collaborated personally with the enemy while commanding his Chetnik troops in Yugoslavia.

Earlier he had testified that he had been promised United States support exclusively for his movement by the head of the American mission to his Chetnik headquarters.

The bearded Chetnik leader, on trial before a Yugoslav military court on charges of both collaboration and treason, was confronted with a handwritten letter in which he had said "the Italians helped us."

"What do you call this?" demanded the prosecutor after reading the letter.

"Intrigue," replied Mihailovic. "Is that collaboration?" the prosecutor asked.

"Yes," was the reply. "Is that your collaboration?" the prosecutor pressed further.

"Yes," Mihailovic answered. Obviously tired from his continual appearance on the stand since Tuesday, Mihailovic had testified also that he had told the British that he had enough of being a "fill-gap man in Europe," and that it was "up to us to tend towards the Soviet Union."

He said the Yugoslav government in London had intervened with the admittance "look westward" and he had accepted it.

He said he had been given a promise of exclusive United States support by Col. Robert H. McDowell, head of the American mission to Chetnik headquarters in 1944.

He said McDowell had assured him "when the Russians reach the frontier the Red army will not enter Yugoslavia." Asked whether McDowell had told him "the Russians would not enter Yugoslavia," he said: "Yes, that is what he said."

OPA Cuts Bakers' Ration of Sugar About 14 Per Cent

New Sugar Stamp Becomes Valid July 1; Coffee Prices May Rise

WASHINGTON, June 14 (AP)—In a move to make more bread available by cutting down on cake and other pastries, the OPA today reduced the sugar ration of American bakers about fourteen per cent.

At the same time, there were these other developments on the food front:

1. An OPA official said the retail price of sugar soon will be raised one-fifth of a cent a pound—one cent on a five-pound package—to offset a wage boost for sugar refinery workers.

2. The agency will validate a second sugar stamp for home canning July 1. Spare stamp 10 in family ration books will be good for five pounds through October 31. The current coupon, spare stamp 9, also is good for five pounds through October.

3. The possibility arose that the retail price of coffee may be raised three to five cents a pound.

Effective during the July-September quarter, bakers will receive only sixty per cent as much sugar as they used during the corresponding quarter, in 1941, OPA announced. They now are receiving seventy per cent.

The reduction, which places bakers on the same basis as most other industrial users of sugar, was prompted by Agriculture department limitations on flour production.

At present, mills may grind only seventy-five per cent as much flour a month as they did last year. On July 1 this goes up to eighty-five per cent.

OPA said that because of these limitations there no longer is any justification for bakers receiving more sugar for their products than other industrial sugar users do.

Coffee Subsidy Ends June 30 While the official announcement made no mention of it, OPA and Agriculture department officials said privately that the government is counting on the sugar ration cut to help stem diversion of flour from bread to pastries.

As for coffee, officials who could not be quoted by name said the Office of Economic Stabilization will decide whether to allow a 25-cent price increase of three to five cents a pound.

A subsidy of three cents a pound now being paid to coffee importers will expire June 30 unless renewed. A decision on whether to continue it will await final disposition of the "control extension bill," it was understood.

Senate Approves Bill Giving Navy Ships for Tests

WASHINGTON, June 14 (AP)—The Senate gave the navy go-ahead today for the atom bomb tests at Bikini despite the protests of two senators that the big blast might hurt the nation's efforts toward world peace.

By a voice vote, the Senate approved legislation authorizing the navy to use a large fleet of vessels for the tests in the Pacific early next month. The bill must go back to the House for agreement on a Senate amendment limiting to thirty-three the number of United States fishing ships which may be used. The House authorization placed no limit.

The navy said the amendment would effect no curtailment of its present plans, which also call for the use of smaller ships and enemy vessels.

At the same time, there was a chorus of congressional endorsement for the proposals for international atomic controls laid before the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission in New York today by Bernard M. Baruch, United States representative.

Chairman McMahon (D-Conn.) of the Senate Atomic Energy Committee, told a reporter that the United States has not only shown its "good faith, but an appreciation of the urgency of the situation" through the proposals.

Baruch's name echoed in debate on the test authorizing measure.

House Refuses To Approve Senate Bill, Assailed by Paul Porter

WASHINGTON, June 14 (AP)—Amid administration admonitions against skyrocketing prices, Congress confronted a choice today between retreating from its battering attack on OPA or risking a head-on collision with a presidential veto.

President Truman left open the question of veto, when inquiry was made at his morning news conference, but Economic Stabilizer Chester Bowles has said he will use such action if legislative to continue OPA lands at the White House in its present weakened form.

Reports were heard at the capitol that both Bowles and Paul Porter, OPA administrator, would resign rather than try to administer such a law. Porter added to that speculation today with a new statement that the bill the Senate passed last night "amounts to the repeal of price control." He had said the same thing of the bill the House passed in April.

Rent Ceilings Survive Porter said he shared with Majority Leader Barkley (R-Ky.) the hope that the bill would survive as a result of the constructive de-liberation of the (Senate-House) conference committee a satisfactory bill may be presented to the president.

Under the restrictions written by one house or the other, meat, butter, milk, eggs, chickens, tobacco, gasoline and many other items would be stripped of price control. About the only control that survived intact under the House-Senate onslaught was the ceiling on rents.

Chairman Flannagan (D-Va.) of the House Agriculture committee, told newsmen "the Senate and the House have gone too far." He said that the price of grain, now in short supply, would "go sky high" without controls, and this would mean higher consumer costs for bread and meat.

The job of writing compromise legislation was entrusted to four senators and representatives today after the House—itsself having refused to approve outright the even more drastic lambasting the Senate gave the price agency.

The conference committee, comprising seven senators and seven representatives, can virtually rewrite the legislation, if it desires. However, its action is subject to later approval by the House and Senate.

The fourteen men to whom the final writing of OPA legislation is entrusted are:

Truman Reveals That He Tried in Vain To Prevent Blast at Black by Jackson

Premier Urges Italy To Unite Behind Republic

President Says OWMR Will Be Retained with Steelman at Helm

WASHINGTON, June 14 (AP)—President Truman revealed today that he tried to stop Supreme Court Justice Jackson from issuing his sensational blast at Justice Black but Jackson went ahead anyway.

Jackson sent the president an advance copy of his statement describing his "feud" with Black and assailing the latter's participation in supreme court decisions in which his former law partner was interested.

It reached the White House on Sunday, the day before Jackson released it at a news conference in Nuernberg and called it to the Judiciary committee of Congress.

Mr. Truman shot a message to Jackson suggesting that the justice not release it until the two of them had a chance to talk it over. Asked whether Jackson then discussed it with him by telephone, the chief executive said he did not.

The president's disclosure to his news conference of these activities behind the scenes did not make clear whether Jackson actually received that residential advice before he acted and thus disregarded it. Due to the time difference between Washington and Nuernberg, the interval between the time Jackson's statement reached the White House and the time it was made public might have been only a few hours.

In any case Mr. Truman made it clear that he disapproved of Jackson's action in dragging the dis-sension within the supreme court into the open, but the president indicated that was the end of it as far as he was concerned. He said in answer to questions that he expects no resignations to result.

Mr. Truman opened his conference by announcing that Dr. John R. Steelman will become reconversion director succeeding John W. Snyder, named secretary of the treasury.

In announcing Snyder's new appointment last week, the President had said that the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion would be terminated. But today he explained that all the cabinet officers, agency heads, and congressmen and other advisers thought it ought to be continued.

College Professor Links Tawes's Ticket with O'Connor's Candidacy

BALTIMORE, June 14 (AP)—The state ticket of J. Millard Tawes, candidate for Democratic nomination for governor, was linked tonight with the candidacy of Governor O'Connor for the United States Senate nomination, in a radio address by Dr. Mildred Otensack, associate professor of political economy at Trinity college, Washington.

Dr. Otensack appealed for votes in the June 24 primary for Tawes, O'Connor and Tawes's running mate, Charles Robinson, for comptroller, and W. Earle Coby, for attorney general.

Meanwhile, an opponent of Tawes, William Preston Lane, Jr., issued a statement in which he advocated an expansion of the activities of the Maryland Planning Commission.

A paramount need, Lane said, is to put the commission on an "adequate financial basis, so that it

Settlement Is Announced Just Before Walkout Was To Start

Murray Appeals To Seven Unions in CMU To Call Off Strike

SEAMEN GET $17.50 MONTHLY INCREASE

Bridges, Curran Claim "Unprecedented Victory" for Workers

WASHINGTON, June 14 (AP)—The maritime labor dispute was settled tonight at almost the very moment when a great nationwide shipping strike was to begin.

Granville Conway, war shipping administrator, told reporters the agreement "had been signed and sealed."

Harry Bridges and Joseph Curran, co-chairman of the Committee for Maritime Unity, a few minutes before had announced to reporters separately that their own unions had reached agreements, subject to ratification of the membership.

Herbert Little, public relations director of the Labor department, told reporters: "The strike is settled."

Philip Murray, CIO president, appealed to the seven unions banded together in the CMU to call off their strike and continue at their jobs.

Bridges and Curran issued a statement at 11:20 p. m. EST claiming for the CMU "an unprecedented victory for all maritime workers and for the laboring people of America." They declared that "the victory was made possible by the unity of the maritime workers expressed in the CMU and by the broad support of our fight by workers here and throughout the world."

Terms Are Disclosed Bridges and Curran said these were the terms won by the unions allied in the CMU:

1—For seamen—Forty-hour week in all ports; $17.50 monthly increase, retroactive to April 1; all work performed on Sunday at sea to be paid at the overtime rate which is raised to $1 an hour. Other collateral issues to be negotiated in the next thirty days and if no agreement is reached, these issues will be submitted to arbitration.

2—For radio operators—A wage increase of $17.50 a month and arbitration of an "additional amount" to preserve historic differentials; overtime rate for all work performed at sea on Sunday (meaning overtime after a forty-eight-hour week); arbitration of over overtime rate and additional radio operator on all cargo ships.

3—Engineers—Provision for overtime for Sunday at sea, and a forty-hour week in port.

4—Longshoremen—Increase of twenty-two cents an hour as recommended by a fact-finding board, retroactive to last October 1.

Union Must Ratify All the proposals are subject to ratification of the unions involved. Bridges explained that the last stumbling block over signature of the West coast waterfront contract had been resolved with the operators agreeing to sign in behalf of all the members of the association instead of merely as an association.

This had delayed settlement, Bridges said, for two hours, with the employers finally agreeing at approximately 10:30 p. m. EST.

Bridges said the operators had agreed to pay, by next October 30, the $8,000,000 to $10,000,000 in retroactive pay increases to his longshoremen. The wage increase in the new agreement is retroactive to last October 1. He had insisted that the operators make this retroactive pay by next September 30 and the later date represented a compromise achieved late today.

The longshoremen's leader said he had insisted on the deadline for making this payment because the operators still owe the longshoremen members $6,000,000 to $8,000,000 in retroactive pay.

RAILROADERS RETURN AFTER GOVERNMENT SEIZURE IS ORDERED

PITTSBURGH, June 14 (AP)—Striking railroaders began returning to their posts on the Monongahela connecting railroad, a Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation subsidiary, at 7 p. m. (EDT) tonight, at the same time government seizure of the line became effective.

The return was ordered by Joseph Cahill, Cleveland, deputy president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, as 500 government troops were ordered to move here from Carlisle, Pa., to support the Office of Defense Transportation in its plans to operate the railroad in accordance with the president's instructions.

Cahill said the back-to-work order was given to comply with a seizure directive issued today by J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI. He said the strike was "not called off but was postponed until a later date."

Army's Discharge Rules Are Eased

WASHINGTON, June 14 (AP)—The War department announced tonight that it had ordered the return from overseas of non-volunteer enlisted fathers and men with twenty-one months or more service.

The department said it had authorized commanders in this country to discharge as surplus non-volunteer enlisted men with over twenty-one months service.

The dual action was taken, the department declared in a statement, prior to final decision of Congress on Selective Service, in order not to interrupt the flow of men for discharge and to fill returning troopships which now run on regular schedules.

The greater part of the non-volunteer fathers will be brought back to the United States by August 31, the department estimated. It said that the approximate number of non-volunteer enlisted fathers totals 133,000, situated as follows:

77,000 in Pacific areas, 28,000 in the zone of the interior, 18,000 in the European theater of operations and 10,000 in other overseas theaters.

A ban on inducting fathers is included in the compromise extension of Selective Service now pending before a House-Senate conference committee. The legislation also includes a provision that the service of any inductee shall be limited to eighteen months.

The department had previously advised Congress that if Selective Service was extended and replacements authorized it could arrange to bring home the fathers, and others with comparatively long periods of service.

Diaper Magnate Says Things Look Better on the Baby Britches Front

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, June 14 (AP)—A dapper diaper man said today that things look better on the baby britches front this summer, but he warned: Look out for another long, cold winter.

John K. Jones, president of the National Institute of Diaper Services, told a news conference that he was speaking only for the one baby in ten in this nation who wears diapers furnished by the service.

Things are looking up for these kids (who live chiefly in cities of at least 100,000 population). That's because, he said, twenty per cent of the service subscribers are leaving for long summer vacations.

"We'll be able to fill up our waiting lists at last," he said. "No, he didn't know what, if anything, the kids would wear while vacationing."

Jones said the diaper situation is rough for all the 2,600,000 babies born in the United States each year.

"More diapers are being made than ever before," he said, "but we still don't have enough."

He laid the shortage on two things:

1. More babies.

Lucas said that even now with ships and scientists gathered in the Pacific for the first of three atomic tests, the president would aid world peace by calling off the whole experiment or at least delaying it.

"This is more of a naval display than an experiment," Lucas shouted, adding that other peoples of the world will misunderstand and accuse the United States of "double talk."

House Refuses To Approve Senate Bill, Assailed by Paul Porter

By FRANCIS M. LE MAY

WASHINGTON, June 14 (AP)—Amid administration admonitions against skyrocketing prices, Congress confronted a choice today between retreating from its battering attack on OPA or risking a head-on collision with a presidential veto.

President Truman left open the question of veto, when inquiry was made at his morning news conference, but Economic Stabilizer Chester Bowles has said he will urge such action if legislative to continue OPA lands at the White House in its present weakened form.

Reports were heard at the capitol that both Bowles and Paul Porter, OPA administrator, would resign rather than try to administer such a law. Porter added to that speculation today with a new statement that the bill the Senate passed last night "amounts to the repeal of price control."

He had said the same thing of the bill the House passed in April.

Rent Ceilings Survive

Porter said he shared with Majority Leader Barkley (R-Ky.) the hope Barkley expressed on the floor "that as a result of the constructive deliberation of the (Senate-House) conference committee a satisfactory bill may be presented to the president."

Under the restrictions written by one house or the other, meat, butter, milk, eggs, chickens, tobacco, gasoline and many other items would be stripped of price control. About the only control that survived intact under the House-Senate onslaught was the ceiling on rents.

Chairman Flannagan (D-Va.), of the House Agriculture committee, told newsmen "the Senate and the House have gone too far." He said that the price of grain, now in short supply, would "go sky high" without controls, and this would mean drastic lambasting for bread and meat.

The job of writing compromise legislation was entrusted to fourteen senators and representatives today after the House—itsself having mauled OPA all over the lot—refused to approve outright the even more drastic lambasting the Senate gave the price agency.

Radcliffe Is on Committee

The conference committee, comprising seven senators and seven representatives, can virtually rewrite the legislation, if it desires. However, its decision is subject to later approval by the House and Senate.

Premier Urges Italy To Unite Behind Republic

By FRANK BRUTTO

ROME, June 14 (AP)—Premier Alcide De Gasperi, provisional head of state, called upon the Italian people today in a conciliatory speech to forget the rancors of the monarchist-republican controversy and unite behind the republic.

The words of the Christian Democratic leader were deliberately calm and soothing. They were even forbearing toward the exiled Umberto II, whom De Gasperi described as "the heir of downfall."

He contrasted with the cabinet's sharp retort earlier to Umberto's charges that appointment of De Gasperi constituted a "revolutionary action."

The speech, broadcast by radio, was intended evidently to placate rising Italian passions in a situation in which responsible persons had referred darkly to "revolution" and "civil war."

De Gasperi told his countrymen: "We have an immense work of reconstruction before us. The climb is hard. Men of good will, give us your hand—whatever your vote has been—because otherwise without this common effort we will not succeed."

Partisans of the republic and the monarchy, grown tense under charges and countercharges provoked by Umberto's precipitate flight yesterday to Lisbon, seemed calm today.

Of Umberto, the temporary head of the Italian state said: "We can humanely consider the tragedy of this man. He was the heir of downfall and of terrible and fatal compromise with dictatorship."

Previously the government in a communique had referred to Umberto's proclamation to the Italians, made public five hours after he left, as "fractious and mendacious."

De Gasperi, in his broadcast, suggested that its author might have been someone other than the king and said "it is distasteful for me to resume the argument."

He said that in the plebiscite, which eleven days ago gave the republic, "we have an immense work of reconstruction before us. The climb is hard. Men of good will, give us your hand—whatever your vote has been—because otherwise without this common effort we will not succeed."

Settlement Is Announced Just Before Walkout Was To Start

Murray Appeals To Seven Unions in CMU To Call Off Strike

SEAMEN GET $17.50 MONTHLY INCREASE

Bridges, Curran Claim "Unprecedented Victory" for Workers

WASHINGTON, June 14 (AP)—The maritime labor dispute was settled tonight at almost the very moment when a great nationwide shipping strike was to begin.

Granville Conway, war shipping administrator, told reporters the agreement "had been signed and sealed."

Harry Bridges and Joseph Curran, co-chairman of the Committee for Maritime Unity, a few minutes before had announced to reporters separately that their own unions had reached agreements, subject to ratification of the membership.

Herbert Little, public relations director of the Labor department, told reporters: "The strike is settled."

Philip Murray, CIO president, appealed to the seven unions banded together in the CMU to call off their strike and continue at their jobs.

Bridges and Curran issued a statement at 11:20 p. m. EST claiming for the CMU "an unprecedented victory for all maritime workers and for the laboring people of America." They declared that "the victory was made possible by the unity of the maritime workers expressed in the CMU and by the broad support of our fight by workers here and throughout the world."

Terms Are Disclosed

Bridges and Curran said these were the terms won by the unions allied in the CMU:

1—For seamen—Forty-hour week in all ports; $17.50 monthly increase, retroactive to April 1; all work performed on Sunday at sea to be paid at the overtime rate which is paid to $1 an hour. Other collateral issues to be negotiated in the next thirty days and if no agreement is reached, these issues will be submitted to arbitration.

2—For radio operators—A wage increase of $17.50 a month and arbitration of an "additional amount to preserve historic differentials." Overtime rate for all work performed at sea on Sunday (meaning overtime after a forty-eight-hour week); arbitration of new overtime rate and additional radio operator on all cargo ships.

3—Engineers—Provision for overtime for Sunday at sea, and a forty-hour week in port.

4—Longshoremen—Increase of twenty-two cents an hour as recommended by a fact-find board, retroactive to last October 1.

Union Must Ratify

All the proposals are subject to ratification of the unions involved. Bridges explained that the last stumbling block over signature of the West coast waterfront contract had been resolved with the operators agreeing to sign in behalf of all the members of the association instead of merely as an association.

This had delayed settlement, Bridges said, for two hours, with the employers finally agreeing at approximately 10:30 p. m. EST.

Bridges said the operators had agreed to pay, by next October 30, the $6,000,000 to $10,000,000 in retroactive pay increases to his longshoremen. The wage increase in the new agreement is retroactive to last October 1. He had insisted that the operators make this retroactive pay by next September 30 and the later date represented a compromise achieved late today.

The longshoremen's leader said he had insisted on the strike was not making this payment because the operators still owe the longshoremen members $6,000,000 to $8,000,000 in retroactive pay.

RAILROADERS RETURN AFTER GOVERNMENT SEIZURE IS ORDERED

PITTSBURGH, June 14 (AP)—Striking railroaders began returning to their posts on the Monongahela connecting railroad, a Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation subsidiary, at 7 p. m. (EST) tonight, at the same time that government seizure of the line became effective.

The return was ordered by Joseph Cahill, Cleveland, deputy president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, as 500 government troops were ordered to move here from Carlisle, Pa., to support the Office of Defense Transportation in its plans to operate the railroad in accordance with the president's instructions.

Cahill said the back-to-work order was given to comply with a seizure directive issued today by J. Monroe Johnson, director of the ODT. He said the strike was not called off but was postponed until a later date.

College Professor Links Tawes's Ticket with O'Connor's Candidacy

BALTIMORE, June 14 (AP)—The state ticket of J. Millard Tawes, candidate for Democratic nomination for governor, was linked to the candidacy of Gov. O'Connor, candidate for the United States Senate nomination, in a radio address by Dr. Mildred Otenssek, associate professor of political economy at Trinity college, Washington.

Dr. Otenssek appealed for votes in the June 24 primary for Tawes, O'Connor, and Tawes's running mate—Charles Rolosen, for comptroller, and W. Earle Coby, for attorney general.

Meanwhile, an opponent of Tawes, William Preston Lane, Jr., issued a statement in which he advocated an expansion of the activities of the Maryland Planning Commission.

A paramount need, Lane said, is to put the commission on an "adequate financial basis, so that it will be in a position to develop an effective and beneficial planning and research program."

A new angle was injected into the warmly-contested race for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination when the weekly Southern Maryland Times said 1,000 loaves of bread, 500 cases of beer and 900 pounds of steak were available for a recent rally in Anne Arundel county.

The newspaper said that flour for the bread was obtained through the campaign headquarters of Tawes.

Garrett County Primary Slates Are Announced

Names of 34 Republicans, 23 Democrats To Appear on Ballots

By GEORGE H. HANST

OAKLAND, June 14 — Garrett County's Republican ballot will have thirty-four names on it while the Democrats will have twenty-three names from which to choose candidates for various offices at the coming primary.

Names of a number of other candidates whose positions are not contested will appear on the ballot in November.

Prior to the deadline on filing vacancies, the Republican committee named Walter W. Dawson for state's attorney, and the Democratic committee named Joseph W. Hinebaugh as candidate for house of delegates.

Republicans with no contest include J. Glenn Beall, for Congress; Alexander T. Grier, comptroller; George C. Dour, attorney general; Lawrence M. Fraley, state senator; W. W. Dawson, state's attorney; Vernie R. Smouse, register of wills; C. Milton Sincell, county surveyor.

Democrats who filed but who are without opposition include Frederick Blaine McHenry, for sheriff; Bernard L. Gouder, Oakland, state senator; J. W. Owens, Oakland, clerk of the circuit court. The committee named the other Stuart P. Hamill, Jr., for state's attorney; Mary Louise Helbig, register of wills; E. C. Clatterbaugh, Des Moines, county commissioner; and Joseph W. Hinebaugh, house of delegates.

There are no contestants for positions on either Republican or Democratic committees. Earl T. Giotelli, Hugh D. Maffett, Gilbert W. Savage and Benj. H. Sincell filed for Republican committee; and W. R. Browning, J. W. Holman, Asa T. Matthews, Albert S. Shaffer and Grover C. Stemple filed for Democratic committee. Dr. E. I. Baumgartner, W. R. Browning and W. R. Offutt filed for Democratic delegates to the state convention.

On the Republican ballot will be seven candidates for three seats in the house, two candidates for clerk of the circuit court, ten candidates for three places as county commissioners, four candidates for county treasurer, three candidates for sheriff, and four candidates for three judges of the orphans' court. These are in addition to state candidates. The only ones contesting on the Democratic ballot are the state-wide candidates.

Club Will Meet
The regular monthly meeting of the Garrett County Youth Club will be held Friday, June 21, at 8 p. m. in the lodge on the camp site at the Pleasant Valley recreation area near Bittinger.

There will be discussion and planning for the weekend camp July 13 and 14, and the annual election of officers will take place. The Rev. Reece Burns, Methodist pastor at Mt. Lake Park, will speak to the group and lead a discussion on problems of youth, responsibility of leadership, etc.

Announce Marriage
The marriage has been announced of Miss Margaret Leighton, daughter of Floyd B. Leighton, Oakland, and Mrs. C. L. Scott, University Park, to Mr. Joseph P. Weiss, Berwyn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Weiss, Berwyn.

The double ring ceremony was performed Friday, May 3, at 4 o'clock, at the home of the bride's mother, with the Rev. Henry R. Osgood officiating.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white crepe suit with brown accessories and a corsage of Tallman roses and lilies of the valley.

Her matron of honor, Mrs. Harry Anderson, wore a tan suit with pale blue accessories and a corsage of pink roses and lilies of the valley. The bridegroom has as his best man Mr. Harry Anderson.

Two receptions were held following the ceremony, the first one at the home of the bride's mother, and the second at Knott's Pine. The bride is a graduate of Oakland High school, 1943, and attended Strayer's Business college, Washington, D. C. Prior to her wedding she was employed as secretary at National Electric Machine Shop, Inc.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Greenbelt high school, Greenbelt, 1939, and served twenty-two months with the thirty-eighth infantry division in the Pacific. The couple are residing in Berwyn where they are establishing a hardware business.

Will Take Examinations

Ten registrants have been ordered to report to the local draft board to be sent to Baltimore for pre-induction physical examination June 18. Harland L. Jones, chief clerk, announced. They are: Lester Bittinger, Jennings; Paul C. Thomas, Accident; Frank Kovak, Hibbs, Pa.; Earl J. Frazee, Selbyport; Lester R. Durst, Grantsville; Earl E. Betzel, Accident; Wilmer E. Murphy, Swanton; Robert W. Enlow, Friendsville; Karl L. Crowe, Frostburg; Claude J. Mills, Shalimar.

Camp Meeting Planned

The sixty-fourth annual meeting of the Mountain Lake Park Holiness Camp Meeting association, interdenominational, will be held at the camp Friday, June 28, through Friday, July 7. It has been announced by Rev. I. E. Steyer, secretary, Charleston, W. Va. The first meeting will be June 28, 8 p. m., in the auditorium.

Listed as evangelists this year are the Rev. Howard Sweeten and the Rev. Tilden H. Gaddis. The Rev. Mr. Sweeten, Ashley, Ill., was at the camp meeting in 1938, 1939 and 1940, and is returning at the instance of the board of directors. The Rev. Mr. Gaddis is also coming for the third time. The Gaddis-Moser party also includes Mrs. Rachel Gaddis, two sisters, Miss Bertha and Elma Moser, who have been engaged in world evangelism for twenty-two years. The Misses Moser will have charge of music and children.

Other workers include Miss Elsie Bradford, youth; the Rev. C. S. Thompson, people's meeting; and the Rev. J. B. Rupert, ring meeting. Meetings are held daily from 9 a. m. through 8 p. m. An all-day program on July 4 will be one of the features.

retroactive pay due them under a War Labor Board order of last August.

CMU Issues Statement
The Committee for Maritime Unity, in a formal statement, in which the terms were detailed, said: "The victory was made possible by the unity of the maritime workers expressed in the CMU, and by the broad support of our fight by workers here and throughout the world. This solidarity, together with intensive and thorough preparations for a strike, made it possible for the CMU committee in Washington to stand firm against the strike breaking, union-busting threats of the government and the Truman administration."

The committee said that participation of CIO President Philip Murray in the closing days of negotiations had been "a large factor, in averting a strike and securing a settlement of the dispute."

Frank J. Taylor, chairman of the negotiating committee for the general agents of the War Shipping Administration on the Atlantic and Gulf coasts, said the strike had been avoided by the intervention of the government.

Taylor said the War Shipping Administration had instructed the general agents "to put into effect on all government-owned ships the terms which it has agreed to with the maritime unions."

"As the government today owns eighty per cent of the entire merchant fleet, it is obvious that the settlement by the government cannot help but affect all privately-owned ships," he said.

However, Taylor added that the companies "have grave misgivings as to the future of the American merchant marine."

"The United States Treasury can doubtless bear this burden on government-owned ships, but it remains to be seen how long privately-owned ships under the American flag can survive against competition under the staggering handicap now imposed upon them."

Taylor said the monthly wage bill of United States flag ships would be $10,184 compared to $2,735 for the British, the next highest of the big seagoing nations.

The government-negotiated contract will boost the pay of seamen on United States ships approximately 135 per cent above the level of January, 1941, Taylor asserted.

The new increase, he said, amounts to about $51 per month for each seaman, or an increase of thirty per cent over present wages.

Dow Albright, 73, Dies at His Home in Westernport

By GEORGE W. DADDYSMAN

WESTERNPORT, June 14 — M. L. Dow Albright, 73, died at his home, 326 Front street, at 6:20 p. m. today after an illness of six months.

Mr. Albright was employed as a clerk at Joe's clothing store, Main street, at the time of his death. A native of Augusta, W. Va., Mr. Albright was the son of the late Samuel and Ellen Albright. He had resided in the Tri-Towns section for more than fifty years. He was a member of Piedmont, W. Va., Presbyterian church and was active in fraternal affairs, holding membership in Miriam Lodge No. 103, A. F. and A. M., Westernport; Lafayette Lodge No. 3, Knights of Pythias, Piedmont; and Philos Lodge No. 91, I.O.O.F., Westernport.

Besides his widow, Mrs. Sarah T. Campbell Albright, he is survived by two daughters, Miss Bessie Albright, Washington, D. C., and Miss Wilma Albright, at home; one brother, Lewis G. Albright, and a half-brother, Leslie Albright, both of Piedmont; and one sister, Miss Lucy Albright, St. Petersburg, Fla.

The body is at the Boal funeral home. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Baltimore County Group Backs Lane
BALTIMORE, June 14. (P) — The Baltimore county ticket headed by Christian H. Kahl, president of the board of county commissioners, announced today that it would support the candidacy of William Preston Lane, Jr., for the Democratic nomination for governor.

This was seen as a blow to the hopes of Rep. H. Street Baldwin (D-Md.) for carrying his own county for the gubernatorial nomination.

The Kahl forces also announced they would support Lane's running mates, James J. Lacy for comptroller, and Hall Hammond for attorney general.

In the formal announcement of the Lane backing, the Kahl statement said in part:

"The whole background of his (Lane) personal and political life, his success as a lawyer and a businessman and the fair and decent manner in which he has conducted his campaign, all lead to the conclusion that he is well qualified to be the chief executive of our state."

In supporting the Lane ticket, the Kahl group has joined with the county-manager faction which draws much of its political support from among followers of the Harrison Rider and anti-Baldwin forces.

Truman Reveals

The president next expressed confidence in settling the maritime dispute before the midnight deadline and the questioning then ranged over these other topics:

Atomic energy — Bernard M. Baruch, special representative to the United Nations Atomic Commission, has been informed of the administration's policy for international control. Mr. Truman said he had not seen the proposals which Baruch submitted to the United Nations today but he imagines they follow the policy.

The president was asked whether Baruch's program follows the Acheson-Lilienthal report and he answered no, it follows the presidential policy directive.

Vatican envoy — The president changed, in reply to questions, that it is not entirely correct to say that Myron C. Taylor will be recalled as representative to the Vatican, as Protestant church groups have demanded. He said that President Roosevelt originally sent Taylor there on a special mission to keep the peace, and that Taylor's mission now is to aid in making peace. When that is accomplished, he added, there will be no representative at the Vatican.

Mr. Truman declined to comment on the OPA bill, with its restrictions on price control powers which the Senate passed last night.

Prospects of an effort being made in Congress to revive the vetoed Case labor bill by attaching it to the emergency strike-control legislation which the president seeks.

Garrett County Primary Sales Are Announced

Names of 34 Republicans,
23 Democrats To Appear on Ballots

By GEORGE H. HANST
OAKLAND, June 14 — Garrett County's Republican ballot will have thirty-four names on it while the Democrats will have twenty-three names from which to choose candidates for various offices at the coming primary.

Names of a number of other candidates whose positions are not contested will appear on the ballot in November.

Prior to the deadline on filing vacancies, the Republican committee named Walter W. Dawson for state's attorney, and the Democratic committee named Joseph W. Hinebaugh as candidate for house of delegates.

Republicans with no contest include J. Glenn Beall, for Congress; Alexander T. Criser, controller; George C. Doub, attorney general; Lawrence M. Fraley, state senator; W. W. Dawson, state's attorney; Vernie R. Smouse, register of wills; C. Milton Sincell, county surveyor.

Democrats who filed but who are without opposition include Frederick Blane, McHenry, for sheriff; Bernard L. Gonder, Oakland, state senator; J. W. Owens, Oakland, clerk of the circuit court. The committee named the other Stuart F. Hamill, Jr., for state's attorney; Mary Louise Heiber, for clerk of the circuit court; E. C. Clatterbuck, Deer Park, county commissioner; and Joseph W. Hinebaugh, house of delegates.

There are no contestants for positions on either Republican or Democratic committees. Earl T. Gierulick, Hugh D. Maffett, Gilbert W. Savage and Ben H. Sincell filed for Republican committee; and W. R. Browning, J. W. Holman, Asa T. Matthews, Albert S. Shaffer and Grover C. Stemple filed for Democratic committee. Dr. E. I. Baumgartner, W. R. Browning and W. R. Ottitt filed for Democratic delegates to the state convention.

On the Republican ballot will be seven candidates for three seats in the house, two candidates for clerk of the circuit court, ten candidates for three places as county commissioners, four candidates for county treasurer, three candidates for sheriff, and four candidates for three judges of the orphans' court. These are in addition to state candidates. The only ones contesting on the Democratic ballot are the state-wide candidates.

Club Will Meet
The regular monthly meeting of the Garrett County Youth Club will be held Friday, June 21, at 8 p. m. in the lodge on the camp site at the Pleasant Valley recreation area near Ruttinger.

There will be discussion and planning for the weekend camp, July 13 and 14, and the annual election of officers will take place. The Rev. Reece Burns, Methodist pastor at Mt. Lake Park, will speak to the group and lead a discussion on problems of youth, responsibility of leadership, etc.

Announce Marriage
The marriage has been announced of Miss Margaret Leighton, daughter of Floyd B. Leighton, Oakland, and Mrs. C. L. Scott, University Park, to Mr. Joseph P. Weiss, Berwyn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Weiss, Berwyn.

The double ring ceremony was performed Friday, May 3, at 4 o'clock, at the home of the bride's mother, with the Rev. Henry R. Osgood officiating.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white crepe suit with brown accessories and a corsage of Tallman roses and lilies of the valley.

Her matron of honor, Mrs. Harry Anderson, wore a tan suit with pale blue accessories and a corsage of pink roses and lilies of the valley. The bridegroom has as his best man Mr. Harry Anderson.

Two receptions were held following the ceremony, the first one at the home of the bride's mother, and the second at Knott's Pines. The bride is a graduate of Oakland high school, 1943, and attended Strayer's Business College, Washington, D. C. Prior to her wedding she was employed as secretary at National Electric Machine Shop, Inc.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Greenbelt high school, Greenbelt, 1939, and served twenty-two months with the thirty-eighth infantry division in the Pacific. The couple are residing in Berwyn where they are establishing a hardware business.

Will Take Examinations
Ten registrants have been ordered to report to the local draft board to be sent to Baltimore for pre-induction physical examination June 18. Harland L. Jones, chief clerk, announced. They are: Lester Bittlinger, Jennings; Paul C. Thomas, Accident; Frank Kovak, Hubbs, Pa.; Earl J. Frazee, Selbyport; Lester R. Durst, Grantsville; Earl S. Beitzel, Accident; Wilmer E. Murphy, Swanton; Robert W. Enlow, Friendsville; Karl L. Crowe, Frostburg; Claude J. Mills, Shalimar.

Camp Meeting Planned
The sixty-fourth annual meeting of the Mountain Lake Park Holiness Camp Meeting association, interdenominational, will be held at the Park Friday, June 28, through Friday, July 7. It has been announced by Rev. I. E. Steyer, secretary, Charleston, W. Va. The first meeting will be June 28, 8 p. m., in the auditorium.

Listed as evangelists this year are the Rev. Howard Sweeten and the Rev. Tilden H. Gaddis. The Rev. Mr. Sweeten, Ashley, Ill., was at the camp meeting in 1938, 1939 and 1940, and is returning at the instance of the board of directors. The Rev. Mr. Gaddis is also coming for the third time. The Gaddis-Moser party also includes Mrs. Rachel Gaddis, two sisters, Misses Bertha and Elma Moser, who have been engaged in world evangelism for twenty-two years. The Misses Moser will have charge of music and children.

Other workers include Miss Elsie Bradford, youth; the Rev. C. S. Thompson, people's meeting; and the Rev. J. B. Rupert, ring meeting. Meetings are held daily from 9 a. m. through 8 p. m. An all-day program on July 4 will be one of the features.

retroactive pay due them under a War Labor Board order of last August.

CMU Issues Statement
The Committee for Maritime Unity, in a formal statement, in which the terms were detailed, said: "The victory was made possible by the unity of the maritime workers expressed in the CMU, and by the broad support of our fight by workers here and throughout the world. This solidarity, together with intensive and thorough preparations for a strike, made it possible for the CMU committee in Washington to stand firm against the strike breaking, union-busting threats of the government and the Truman administration."

The committee said that participation of CIO President Philip Murray in the closing days of negotiations had been "a large factor, in averting a strike and securing a settlement of the dispute."

Frank J. Taylor, chairman of the negotiating committee for the War Shipping Administration on the Atlantic and Gulf coasts, said the strike had been avoided by the intervention of the government.

Handicap for Private Companies
Taylor said the War Shipping Administration had instructed the steamship companies as its general agents "to put into effect on all government-owned ships the terms which it has agreed to with the maritime unions."

"As the government today owns eighty per cent of the entire merchant fleet, it is obvious that the settlement by the government cannot help but affect all privately-owned ships," he said.

However, Taylor added that the companies "have grave misgivings as to the future of the American merchant marine."

"The United States Treasury can doubtless bear this burden on government-owned ships, but it remains to be seen for how long privately-owned ships under the American flag can survive against competition under the staggering handicap now imposed upon them."

Taylor said the monthly wage bill of United States flag ships would be $10,184 compared to $2,735 for the British, the next highest of the big seagoing nations.

The government-negotiated contract will boost the pay of seamen on United States ships approximately 135 per cent above the level of January, 1941, Taylor asserted.

The new increase, he said, amounts to about $51 per month for each seaman, or an increase of thirty per cent over present wages.

of other seagoing nations, biological, social, perhaps, why not?—against war itself."

Council Meets Next Wednesday
After hearing Baruch and deciding that Australian Delegate Herbert V. Evatt would serve as chairman for the first month under a rotation plan, the council adjourned until 3 p. m. (EDT) next Wednesday.

Several delegates praised the declaration generally, but withheld comment on the detailed provisions pending further study and consultation with their governments.

Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko said "so far matters are going smoothly." He said Baruch's speech "was well written and well delivered," but added:

"I have no comment on the substance."

Baruch launched into his speech after reading a letter he received from President Truman. The president said:

"I ask you as the American representative on the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission to express to the members my sense of the extraordinary importance of the work in which they are about to engage. Nothing concerns the whole world more than the achievement of the purpose that brings them together."

College Professor Baltimore County Group Backs Lane

BALTIMORE, June 14. (P)—The Baltimore county ticket headed by Christian H. Kahl, president of the board of county commissioners, announced today that it would support the candidacy of William Preston Lane, Jr., for the Democratic nomination for governor.

This was seen as a blow to the hopes of Rep. H. Street Baldwin (D-Md) for carrying his own county for the gubernatorial nomination.

The Kahl forces also announced they would support Lane's running mates, James J. Lacy for comptroller, and Hall Hammond for attorney general.

In the formal announcement of the Lane backing, the Kahl statement said in part:

"The whole background of his (Lane) personal and political life, his success as a lawyer and a businessman and the fair and decent manner in which he has conducted his campaign, all lead to the conclusion that he is well qualified to be the chief executive of our state."

In supporting the Lane ticket, the Kahl group has joined with the county-manager faction which draws much of its political support from among followers of the Harrison Rider and anti-Baldwin forces.

Truman Reveals
The president next expressed confidence in settling the maritime dispute before the midnight deadline, and the questioning then ranged over these other topics:

Atomic energy — Bernard M. Baruch, special representative to the United Nations Atomic Commission, has been informed of the administration's policy for international control. Mr. Truman said he had not seen the proposals which Baruch submitted to the United Nations today but he imagines they follow the policy.

The president was asked whether Baruch's program follows the Acheson-Lillenthal report and he answered no. It follows the presidential policy directive.

Vatican envoy — The president explained, in reply to questions, that it is not entirely correct to say that Myron C. Taylor will be recalled as representative to the Vatican, as Protestant church groups have demanded. He said that President Roosevelt originally sent Taylor there on a special mission to keep the peace, and that Taylor's mission now is to aid in making peace. When that is accomplished, he added, there will be no representative at the Vatican.

Mr. Truman declined to comment on the OPA bill, with its restrictions on price control powers which the Senate passed last night.

Prospects of an effort being made in Congress to revive the vetoed Case labor bill by attaching it to the emergency strike-control legislation which the president seeks.

The speech in which Foreign Minister Bevin said Britain could not shoulder alone the task of carrying out an Anglo-American commission's recommendation that 100,000 European Jews be admitted to Palestine.

Trend in Military Strength Reveals Facts

Periodically some Communist mouthpiece in Moscow gives voice to an alleged fear of United States imperialism, but the postwar trend in military strength reveals the facts. The United States had a war strength of 12.2 million men, Russia had 13.5 and Britain 5.1 millions.

Today the United States has 2.5 million men under arms, Russia has six million and Britain three million. At this time next year, so far as can be predicted now, Russia will have five million men under arms, the United States 1.6 million and Britain 1.4 million.

If the United States had a program of imperialism in mind, it would maintain a military establishment at least as large as that of Russia. It is the Russians who are the militarists and the potential imperialists.

Also on the basis of militarism the Russian people and peoples of countries under Moscow's iron heel have little hope of improved standards of living. The expenses of maintaining Russia's huge war machine will eat up the surpluses of Russia and Russian satellites that otherwise could be diverted to better living for peoples long deprived of adequate food.

It is a tragedy that Russia maintains the military delusion after the world has suffered so much from it. And it is significant that the Moscow reds attempt to cover their own tracks by pointing the finger of accusation at other nations.

Feud Weakens Respect For Supreme Court

Nauseating as are the revelations made by Justice Robert H. Jackson, it is plainly in the country's interest to have the Supreme Court feud brought into the open and to let the light of publicity beat upon it. Now perhaps steps can be taken by Congress to put an end to personal dissension and re-establish the court in the esteem of the people.

It is, of course, difficult to see how this can be brought about. The assortment of queer ducks that composes the court was appointed for life, and all but one by one man. To wean these birds from the trough will be difficult.

On the day that Jackson opened fire, the seven sitting members of the court handed down fourteen decisions. Each of the seven participated in at least two dissents and one ran up a total of seven.

The facts as stated by Jackson make sorry reading. They indicate that Black first sat and took the leading part in a case in which his former law partner was counsel and then threatened Jackson "with war" unless he covered up these shady circumstances. Why Jackson waited until now to speak needs explanation.

None of this conduct may have been in direct violation of the statutes, but certainly all of it was contrary to the dictates of ordinary decency. Its long-range effect has been to destroy the dignity which heretofore had been a mark of the supreme court and to weaken seriously the respect in which its decisions formerly were held.

Phenomenon of Current Wave of Strikes

Unrest usually is regarded as an expression of human need, but a phenomenon of the current wave of strikes in the United States is that labor is vastly better off in monetary returns than ever before in time of peace.

This is proved by what has happened to wage scales since the war. In March weekly earnings in industry averaged $46.44. This figure is 70.2 per cent above August, 1939, the last prewar month. In 1939, two per cent above the average for 1929. The cost of living has advanced, but present weekly earnings, based on real income reflecting cost of living changes, are 33.9 per cent higher than in 1939 and 52.5 per cent higher than in 1929.

In 1929 the average work week in industry was 43.3 hours. Today the average work week is 40.7 hours. The worker is earning $17.90 per week more for 7.6 hours less work than in 1929, which was considered a very prosperous year.

This current wave of strikes, therefore, is not based upon redress of real human need. It has the earmarks of a concentration of economic power in places where it is being used to get more than the traffic will bear.

Indiana Inventors Paved Way for Auto

Those in charge of the fiftieth anniversary of the American automobile in Detroit have had little to say about other states' contributions to motoring. Many old cars appeared in a parade and Henry Ford exhibited his first vehicle, but, according to a Hoosier, virtually everything represented in the Detroit exposition was built after the Indiana inventors had paved the way.

The car built by Elwood Haynes, Kokomo, has been generally accepted as the first successful clutch-driven automobile in America. Mr. Haynes produced and demonstrated this car in 1893, or three years prior to the period when Detroit says the first car was made. The Haynes car is permanently exhibited in the Smithsonian Institution in Washington.

About the time Mr. Haynes was experimenting with a self-propelled vehicle, M. O. Reo, Columbus, Ind., built and operated a car that he called a motor cycle. It used a buggy body and the firm that built this part of the car installed a whip socket on the dashboard. A few years later the Reeves Pulley Company, of which Mr. Reo was an official, produced several of these cars and called them car-buggies.

There is still an older car, and that was made by Charles H. Black, an Indianapolis carriage designer. His automobile, now exhibited at the Children's Museum in Indianapolis, was operated on Indianapolis streets in 1891. The engine had no reverse, but it went forward at the thrilling speed of ten miles an hour. There was considerable prejudice against the Black automobile because it frightened horses and every time he took a ride he was compelled to obtain an official permit from the city.

Answers to Problems Of Near and Middle East

Those who wonder why the big nations of the world cannot agree on problems arising in the Near and Middle East may find some of the answers in recent remarks of Harold Lamb, author, scholar and authority on that region of the world. He has passed thirty years studying the history of the area.

"The difficult thing to understand about the Near East," said Mr. Lamb, "is the complexity of the problem. There are so many races, such intertwined interests and so many problems that it is difficult to separate them sufficiently to solve them."

With all his study, Mr. Lamb conceded that he was unable to advance any specific recommendations for the problems' solution, asserting that the numerous, complex questions involved make him very pessimistic that they will be peacefully cleared up.

"The desires of Russia, England and France that are meeting in the Middle East are practically irreconcilable," he said. "They are all seeking control, and the slightest concession on the part of one means a gain on the part of the other. It is just as much a battlefield today as Czechoslovakia was before the war."

With all credit to Mr. Lamb's views regarding the future, it is important that the nations of the world cling to the belief that all problems are susceptible of solution. When hope is abandoned, the shooting starts.

Bumper Wheat Crop Looms If Kansas Is an Omen

Kansas wheat crop cannot be judged by a few counties, but when a fourth of the state's area reports that the current wheat crop is turning out surprisingly large it may be confidently predicted that the nation's bumper wheat state will produce a bumper yield. In the face of complete dissipation of the nation's usual wheat carryover by shipments to Europe, this is a consummation greatly to be hoped for by those who desire to eat next winter.

Half-damaged wheat in Sumner county, Kansas, is yielding from eighteen to twenty bushels to the acre. Drought stricken wheat in other areas is filling truck beds at the rate of fifteen to twenty bushels to the acre, and there are reports of thirty-bushel wheat. First reports from far Western Kansas are encouraging.

If Northwestern Kansas develops a surprise in yields, and that now probably, Kansas will not miss the 200 million bushel estimate before the spring drought and late freeze very far, if at all, and the total could exceed that figure. Half-damaged has not been as heavy as in some big crop years, and the weather recently has been ideal.

The weather in the wheat country in recent days is exactly what the wheat doctor ordered. When the berry in the head fattens all that is needed is ripening weather. If Kansas is an omen, the nation's bumper wheat crop.

Fighting ceases periodically in the Chinese civil war, but whether to enable the combatants to get their breath or the communists to get fresh supplies from Russia is not clear.

First intimation that the new cars people cannot buy will weigh fifteen tons come from Washington in an OPA announcement increasing some automobile prices $75 because steel went up $5 a ton.

Power and Contentment

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS
Contentment shies away from great power. He who seeks only power in the world will have a great bill to pay sometime—and usually the bill is never met!

All you have to do is to read history. Where did the power of Alexander, Caesar, Napoleon, and lately Hitler, lead them? Gray's Elegy outlives them all. You know the familiar lines—

"The boast of heraldry, the pomp of power,
And all that beauty, all that wealth er gave,
Awaits alike the inevitable hour:
The paths of glory lead but to the grave."

The Champion's years are all numbered. His day of glory is also brief. But he who contents himself with daily deeds of goodness, honesty and enrichment of mind, rounds out a life, gains contentment, and is sensitive to every call for help by those who would experience the thrills that he has known.

The measure of one's life must be appraised by spiritual gains, and not by those of material origin. This material age of ours is smothering "the best of men" in a materialism of "the things of earth." In Lincoln's words, "We are forgetting that soul contentment alone is immortal. More people daily perish for want of spiritual nourishment than from body hunger, essential as the latter may be."

America's material power is being challenged by its spiritual power. Either this spiritual power controls its material power, or its ascendancy ends. And this is true in the case of any nation, as history has long proved. The aspiration of the humblest citizen is indicative of the aspiration of the nation as a whole. In unity of spiritual power alone is there hope for continual contentment among any peoples.

And this is just as true among individuals as among nations. Lincoln, as President, held great power, but it was modulated and consumed by his own humility, his compassion, and his sense of justice. Thus does his greatness grow as time goes on. We can be content with so little, if we make that little radiate afar! In itself that is the experience of power.

"LAST MAN CLUB"

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Pearson Tells Inside Story of Historic Argentine Military Meeting in Capital

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, June 14.—Obscured by news of strikes, hotel fires and supreme court bickering, the most important conversation of the Western hemisphere quietly took place in Washington. It was between the Argentine chief of staff, Lt. Gen. Carlos von der Becke, and United States officials, especially Gen. Eisenhower.

The conversation was important for the following reasons:
1. This is the first time in recent history that the United States Army has taken foreign policy away from the State department and has virtually attempted to dictate its own policy for Latin America.

2. The United States Army is now forcing close military co-operation with the Argentine dictatorship in Latin America which, up until a short time ago, we were officially denouncing as pro-Nazi.

Here is the inside story of what happened.
For some weeks, Gen. Eisenhower, worried about Russian penetration in Latin America, has been pushing the idea of a stable and amicable relationship among the Americas, so their armies can co-operate with the United States.

The State department, while sympathetic to this general idea, has argued that we should not put the cart before the horse. In other words, the arming of Latin American armies by the USA must not start until we have signed an international defense pact and arranged for the control of arms. Otherwise, the State department argues, the arms we send Latin America will be used by military juntas to promote revolution, build up dictators and foment wars.

Impatient Eisenhower
However, Gen. Eisenhower, without waiting for the State department, jumped the gun and began asking Congress to okay standardized arms for Latin America.

Meanwhile, Dictator Peron, sitting isolated in Argentina, worried over the Brazilian army's modernized lease equipment, rose to United States Army bait, and decided to go over the State department's head. This he did, first by a personal letter to Eisenhower, later by having his chief of staff, Gen. von der Becke, resign and go to Washington as a private citizen.

The Argentine general, who is pure German and once openly stated that the German army could not lose the late war, called on von der Becke. When he did not know that only two hours before the United States chief of staff had received a phone call from Assistant Secretary Spruille Braden seeking to put a damper on Ike's reports, Braden informed him that reports of Peron's insurrection were disquieting and the American ambassador had been roundly booed.

Eisenhower said thanks, he'd keep it in mind. Ambassador Messersmith, in Buenos Aires, also had called Washington that the impression prevalent in Argentine government circles was that Braden was all washed up as assistant secretary of state in charge of Latin American affairs, and that was why Argentina was now trying to deal direct with "realists" in the United States Army.

Braden pointed this cable out to his chief, Secretary Byrnes, and protested that Eisenhower's actions were undermining the State department. As a result, Eisenhower promised to make it clear to von der Becke that final army decisions must come from the State department. "Tribute to U. S. Military Might."

All this had taken place before the von der Becke interview. When the interview finally occurred, only five men were present. Eisenhower was flanked by Lt. Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg, new chief of combined United States Intelligence and nephew of Sen. Vandenberg. Gen. von der Becke was accompanied by Col. Arturo Bertolotti, Argentine military attaché, and the fifth man was Lt. Col. Gregorio Marquez, a Puerto Rican officer who acted as interpreter.

Von der Becke began by telling Eisenhower that both he and Peron now regard United States military genius as the world's greatest. Eisenhower was courteous enough not to remind him that two days before D-day he had also predicted that "Europe never could be invaded."

The Argentine general then went on to explain that Peron's policies were not aggressive. Their sole purpose, he said, was to revitalize Argentine political and social consciousness, to overthrow the series of corrupt governments, Nationalism and armed strength, argued the general, who is of pure German descent, were being stressed only as part of the program and not with any thought of attacking neighbor countries or of spearheading an anti-United States bloc in Latin America.

"On the contrary," von der Becke continued, "Argentina wholeheartedly support President Truman's plan for inter-American military co-operation through standardization of equipment and training methods."

What troubled Peron, he said, were certain phrases in President Truman's message asking Congress to pass the standardization of equipment bill, which indicated that the Argentine participation in the project might be tied to fulfillment of "impossible demands" from the State department.

Stumbling-Block Braden
At this point, von der Becke really turned on the man-to-man stuff and spoke bluntly. Assistant Secretary State Braden, the confidant of the Argentine chief of staff, was the only stumbling block to the establishment of the best relations ever enjoyed between the United States and Argentina.

Thereupon, he handed Eisenhower an English translation of a secret memorandum prepared by Peron and his advisers—including, of course, von der Becke himself. The paper contained complete specifications for the equipment and training facilities which Argentina hopes to secure through the inter-American military co-operation plan.

Present Argentine material is entirely obsolete, von der Becke went on to explain, and must be replaced from one source or another. Brazil now has a modern, streamlined army, and Argentina, as the most "advanced" nation in South America, cannot afford to be outdone. It is the earnest desire of Peron and his army chiefs to obtain their new arms in the United States, he said; but they must be obtained promptly, at all costs. (Von der Becke did not mention Russia by name, but the implication was strong that the only other source of extensive armament supplies was Soviet Russia.)

Braden Hits Ceiling
Eisenhower, however, played ball with the State department by telling the Argentine chief of staff that this matter would have to be referred to the secretary of state. He said the War department had no power to act.

Next day, Spruille Braden in the

Truman's Message Is Contradictory, Lawrence Says

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, June 14.—Hyocriety is a mild word to apply to the political chicanery whereby officials worded messages and documents nowadays seek to mislead the American people.

Despite the protestations of cynicism and fair-mindedness which characterize their self-appraisals, many of our public men continue to make statements which upon analysis are revealed as transparently contradictory.

This week, President Truman used the following language in his message vetoing the Case bill:

"We are not faced with a decision of choosing between this legislation and no legislation at all. It is more properly a choice between this particular bill and a more adequate and more inclusive solution of the problem."

Yet if the president has the slightest knowledge of the legislative situation on Capitol hill, he must know that there will be no legislation on labor questions at this session of Congress if he continues to exercise his veto power.

Opportunity Ignored
The next bill to come before him will be his own proposal for emergency legislation empowering him to seize properties in essential industries when a major strike occurs.

But that proposal may have in it a substantial part of the Case bill and this means another presidential veto, according to intimations from legislative quarters. As long as Mr. Truman insists upon a two-thirds vote of both houses as the only means of getting labor legislation enacted, there will be none. Yet he gives the country the impression that he really expects to be given an opportunity to consider corrective legislation to stop strikes and help solve labor disputes. Mr. Truman had the opportunity to correct some of the abuses in the Wagner law and ignored it.

In another paragraph of this veto message occurs this language:

Cites Roosevelt's Message
"In 1943, in the heat of a controversy over a stoppage of war production in the coal mines, the Congress passed the War Labor Disputes Act, more commonly known as the Smith-Connally Act. By subsequent message of June 25, 1943, President Roosevelt warned the Congress that the strike veto provisions of section 8 of the Smith-Connally Act would not lessen but would promote industrial strife. That prediction was borne out by subsequent events. It is my belief that a similar result would follow the approval of this bill."

The foregoing gives the passing reader the impression that the Smith-Connally law has been a useful device. It doesn't tell the people that Mr. Truman himself headed off the main section of the Smith-Connally law and inserted it in the emergency bill which he transmitted to Congress for enactment a week ago Saturday when the strike veto had paralyzed the nation's economy. He does not tell the country that virtually all the seizures of property and operations by the government of plants where labor disputes occurred have been conducted under authority given by the same Smith-Connally law.

A glance at the case does not tell the country that virtually all the seizures of property and operations by the government of plants where labor disputes occurred have been conducted under authority given by the same Smith-Connally law. It doesn't tell the people that Mr. Truman himself headed off the main section of the Smith-Connally law and inserted it in the emergency bill which he transmitted to Congress for enactment a week ago Saturday when the strike veto had paralyzed the nation's economy. He does not tell the country that virtually all the seizures of property and operations by the government of plants where labor disputes occurred have been conducted under authority given by the same Smith-Connally law.

Why does Mr. Truman then mislead the public by such statements as are quoted from his message? He doesn't do so intentionally, of course. Mr. Truman doesn't study these questions himself. He probably didn't write very much of the veto message. He calls for memoranda from associates and takes the language they give him. Doubtless if he gave personal study to these questions, he would realize how contradictory some of his comments have been, but he is too busy and too harassed by public duties to do it and apparently his advisers are not as mindful of the impression created by their ambiguous words, such as quoted above, as they should be.

Confidence in the candor of governmental spokesmen is essential to a continued faith in representative government. But the Truman veto message does not increase such confidence. Its contradictions merely confirm a growing impression that the man in the White House is just playing politics in a misguided belief that this is the way toward a continuance in public office.

Supreme Court Controversy Will Not Be Dropped

By MARK SULLIVAN

An impression may exist, distant from Washington, that the controversy in and about the supreme court may be dropped. That is not true.

There are two possible ways of handling it. One is by action within the court. It is suggested that this controversy, bitter in its intensity, between individuals and groups within the court, may be composed by mollifying influence on the part of the new chief justice, Mr. Vinson, and that President Truman had this in mind when he chose Mr. Vinson. But Justice Jackson is on the court and is a party to the controversy, and he says it cannot "be soothed by a tactful presiding officer."

The other agency through which the controversy can be handled is the one on whose doorstep Justice Jackson laid it—the Judiciary committees of the two branches of Congress, and, above them, Congress itself. Responsible persons expect action in one quarter or another. As Justice Jackson says, the controversy goes to the reputation of the court for non-partisan and unbiased decisions.

Three Main Counts

The indictment made by Justice Jackson against Justice Black can be reduced to three main counts:

(1) In a suit before the court, between a labor union and a mining company, the lawyer for the labor union was a former law partner of Justice Black. In this situation, Justice Black did not withdraw himself, he sat with the rest of the court. For this, Justice Jackson does not charge Justice Black with violation of "honor." His charge has to do with "judgment as to sound judicial policy. . . . I wanted that practice stopped. . . . I would soon bring the court into disrepute."

(2) After the court's decision, in favor of the labor union, the mining company asked for a rehearing. Justice Black, who had failed to withdraw in the original hearing. This created a technical situation. The court does not have authority to grant a rehearing on the ground that a given justice sat in the case, because it does not have authority to require a justice to withdraw. What a justice should do in any case is within his own discretion. This is on the ground that after a justice has been appointed, and the Senate has confirmed him, his qualifications to act in any case must be taken for granted.

Objected Violently

In the present case, the court could have confined itself to merely denying the rehearing, without giving an opinion or comment. However, Justices Jackson and Frankfurter wished to put it on record, for the court did not have authority to pass on the propriety of Justice Black's sitting in the case. To this Justice Black objected violently. He said to Justice Jackson, as the latter now records, "that any opinion which discussed the subject at all would mean a declaration of war." In Justice Jackson's words, Justice Black's position amounted to saying, "I must join in covering up the facts or have war."

(3) On another occasion there was before the court another suit between a coal company and a labor union. At the same time there was a strike of the union against the company, with negotiations for settlement and a new contract under way. Justice Black tried to hurry the announcement for the court's decision, before there had been time to write an opinion, or for dissenting justices to write their dissent. Of this, Justice Jackson dissented. "The only apparent reason behind this . . . was to announce the decision in time to influence the contract negotiations."

There are the specific counts of Justice Jackson's indictment. Embracing them and beneath them is a broader issue. Justice Black is a zealous partisan of a school of political and social thought. The accusation against him by Justice Jackson, with others from other sources, read in the light of the background, amount to saying that Justice Black places "adherents to a partisan political, social and economic line above the court's historic standards of impartiality." Justice Jackson's words "non-partisan and unbiased decision."

Trend in Military Strength Reveals Facts

Periodically some Communist mouthpiece in Moscow gives voice to an alleged fear of United States imperialism, but the postwar trend in military strength reveals the facts. The United States had a war strength of 12.2 million men, Russia had 13.5 and Britain 5.1 million.

Today the United States has 2.5 million men under arms, Russia has six million and Britain three million. At this time next year—so far as can be predicted—Russia will have five million men under arms, the United States 1.6 million and Britain 1.4 million.

If the United States had a program of imperialism in mind, it would maintain a military establishment at least as large as that of Russia. It is the Russians who are the militarists and the potential imperialists.

Also on the basis of militarism the Russian people and peoples of countries under Moscow's iron heel have little hope of improved standards of living. The expense of maintaining Russia's huge war machine will eat up the surpluses of Russia and Russian satellites that otherwise could be diverted to better living for peoples long deprived of adequate food.

It is a tragedy that Russia maintains the military delusion after the world has suffered so much from it. And it is significant that the Moscow reds attempt to cover their own tracks by pointing the finger of accusation at other nations.

Feud Weakens Respect For Supreme Court

Nauseating as are the revelations made by Justice Robert H. Jackson, it is plainly in the country's interest to have the Supreme Court feud brought into the open and to let the light of publicity beat upon it. Now perhaps steps can be taken by Congress to put an end to personal dissension and re-establish the court in the esteem of the people.

It is of course, difficult to see how this can be brought about. The assortment of queer ducks that composes the court was appointed for life, and all but one by one man. To wean these birds from the trough will be a task.

On the day that Jackson opened fire, the seven sitting members of the court handed down fourteen decisions. Each of the seven participated in at least two dissents and one ran up a total of seven.

The facts as stated by Jackson make sorry reading. They indicate that Black first sat and took the leading part in a case in which his former law partner was counsel and then threatened Jackson "with war" unless he covered up these shady circumstances. Why Jackson waited until now to speak needs explanation.

None of this conduct may have been in direct violation of the statutes, but certainly all of it was contrary to the dictates of ordinary decency. Its long-range effect has been to destroy the dignity which heretofore had been the mark of the supreme court and to weaken seriously the respect in which its decisions formerly were held.

Phenomenon of Current Wave of Strikes

Unrest usually is regarded as an expression of human need, but a phenomenon of the current wave of strikes in the United States is that labor is vastly better off in monetary returns than ever before in time of peace.

This is proved by what has happened to wage scales since the war. In March, when the current wave of strikes began, the average weekly wage was $46.44. This figure is 70.2 per cent above August, 1939, the last prewar month, and sixty-two per cent above the average for 1929. The cost of living has advanced, but present weekly earnings, based on real income, reflect a cost of living change, are 33.9 per cent higher than in 1939 and 52.5 per cent higher than in 1929.

In 1929 the average work week in industry was 48.3 hours. Today the average work week is 40.7 hours. The worker is earning $17.90 per week more for 7.6 hours less work than in 1929, which was considered a very prosperous year.

This current wave of strikes, therefore, is not based upon redress of real human need. It has the earmarks of a concentration of economic power in places where it is being used to get more than the traffic will bear.

Indiana Inventors Paved Way for Auto

Those in charge of the fiftieth anniversary of the American automobile in Detroit have had little to say about other states' contributions to motorizing. Many old cars appeared in a parade and Henry Ford exhibited his first vehicle, but, according to a Hoosier, virtually everything represented in the Detroit exposition was built after Indiana inventors had paved the way.

The car built by Elwood Haynes, Kokomo, has been generally accepted as the first successful clutch-driven automobile in America. Mr. Haynes produced and demonstrated this car in 1893, or three years prior to the period when Detroit says the first car was made. The Haynes car is permanently exhibited in the Smithsonian Institution in Washington.

About the time Mr. Haynes was experimenting with a self-propelled vehicle, M. O. Reeves, Columbus, Ind., built and operated a car that he called a motor cycle. It used a buggy body and the firm that built this part of the car installed a whip socket on the dashboard. A few years later the Reeves Pulley Company, of which Mr. Reeves was an official, produced several of these cars and called them "buggies."

There is still an older car, and that was made by Charles H. Black, an Indianapolis carriage designer. His automobile, now exhibited at the Children's Museum in Indianapolis, was operated on Indianapolis streets in 1891. The engine had no reverse, but it went forward at the thrilling speed of ten miles an hour. There was considerable prejudice against the Black automobile because it frightened horses and every time he took a ride he was compelled to obtain an official permit from the city.

Answers to Problems

Of Near and Middle East

Those who wonder why the big nations of the world cannot agree on problems arising in the Near and Middle East may find some of the answers in recent remarks of Harold Lamb, author, scholar and authority on that region of the world. He has passed thirty years studying the history of the area.

"The difficult thing to understand about the Near East," said Mr. Lamb, "is the complexity of the problem. There are so many races, such intertwined interests and so many problems that it is difficult to separate them sufficiently to solve them."

With all his study, Mr. Lamb conceded that he was unable to advance any specific recommendations for the problems' solution, asserting that the numerous, complex questions involved make him very pessimistic that they will be peacefully cleaned up.

"The desires of Russia, England and France that are meeting in the Middle East are practically irreconcilable," he said. "They are all seeking control, and the slightest concession on the part of one means a gain on the part of the other. Iran is just as much a battlefield today as Czechoslovakia was before the war."

With all credit to Mr. Lamb's views regarding the future, it is important that the nations of the world cling to the belief that all problems are susceptible of solution. When hope is abandoned, the shooting starts.

It is a tragedy that Russia maintains the military delusion after the world has suffered so much from it. And it is significant that the Moscow reds attempt to cover their own tracks by pointing the finger of accusation at other nations.

Also on the basis of militarism the Russian people and peoples of countries under Moscow's iron heel have little hope of improved standards of living. The expense of maintaining Russia's huge war machine will eat up the surpluses of Russia and Russian satellites that otherwise could be diverted to better living for peoples long deprived of adequate food.

It is a tragedy that Russia maintains the military delusion after the world has suffered so much from it. And it is significant that the Moscow reds attempt to cover their own tracks by pointing the finger of accusation at other nations.

Feud Weakens Respect For Supreme Court

Nauseating as are the revelations made by Justice Robert H. Jackson, it is plainly in the country's interest to have the Supreme Court feud brought into the open and to let the light of publicity beat upon it. Now perhaps steps can be taken by Congress to put an end to personal dissension and re-establish the court in the esteem of the people.

It is of course, difficult to see how this can be brought about. The assortment of queer ducks that composes the court was appointed for life, and all but one by one man. To wean these birds from the trough will be a task.

On the day that Jackson opened fire, the seven sitting members of the court handed down fourteen decisions. Each of the seven participated in at least two dissents and one ran up a total of seven.

The facts as stated by Jackson make sorry reading. They indicate that Black first sat and took the leading part in a case in which his former law partner was counsel and then threatened Jackson "with war" unless he covered up these shady circumstances. Why Jackson waited until now to speak needs explanation.

None of this conduct may have been in direct violation of the statutes, but certainly all of it was contrary to the dictates of ordinary decency. Its long-range effect has been to destroy the dignity which heretofore had been the mark of the supreme court and to weaken seriously the respect in which its decisions formerly were held.

Phenomenon of Current Wave of Strikes

Unrest usually is regarded as an expression of human need, but a phenomenon of the current wave of strikes in the United States is that labor is vastly better off in monetary returns than ever before in time of peace.

This is proved by what has happened to wage scales since the war. In March, when the current wave of strikes began, the average weekly wage was $46.44. This figure is 70.2 per cent above August, 1939, the last prewar month, and sixty-two per cent above the average for 1929. The cost of living has advanced, but present weekly earnings, based on real income, reflect a cost of living change, are 33.9 per cent higher than in 1939 and 52.5 per cent higher than in 1929.

In 1929 the average work week in industry was 48.3 hours. Today the average work week is 40.7 hours. The worker is earning $17.90 per week more for 7.6 hours less work than in 1929, which was considered a very prosperous year.

This current wave of strikes, therefore, is not based upon redress of real human need. It has the earmarks of a concentration of economic power in places where it is being used to get more than the traffic will bear.

Indiana Inventors Paved Way for Auto

Those in charge of the fiftieth anniversary of the American automobile in Detroit have had little to say about other states' contributions to motorizing. Many old cars appeared in a parade and Henry Ford exhibited his first vehicle, but, according to a Hoosier, virtually everything represented in the Detroit exposition was built after Indiana inventors had paved the way.

The car built by Elwood Haynes, Kokomo, has been generally accepted as the first successful clutch-driven automobile in America. THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Pearson Tells Inside Story of Historic Argentine Military Meeting in Capital

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, June 14 — Obscured by news of strikes, hotel wars and Supreme Court bickering, the most important conversation of the Western hemisphere quietly took place in Washington. It was the Argentine chief of staff, Lt. Gen. Carlos von der Becke, and United States officials, especially Gen. Eisenhower.

The conversation was important for the following reasons:

1. This is the first time in recent history that the United States Army has taken foreign policy away from the State department and has virtually attempted to dictate its own policy for Latin America.

2. The United States Army is now forcing close military co-operation with the chief dictatorship in Latin America which, until a short time ago, we were officially denouncing as pro-Nazi.

Here is the inside story of what happened.

For some weeks, Gen. Eisenhower, worried about Russian penetration of Latin America, has been pushing the idea of standardizing weapons and ammunition among the American armies so their armies can co-operate with the United States.

The State department, while sympathetic to this general idea, has argued that we should not put the cart before the horse. In other words, the arming of Latin American armies by the USA must not start until we have signed an international defense pact and arranged for the control of arms.

Otherwise, the State department argues, the arms we send Latin America will be used by military juntas to promote revolution, build up dictatorships and foment wars.

Impatient Eisenhower, however, Gen. Eisenhower, without waiting for the State department, jumped the gun and began asking Congress to okay standardized arms for Latin America.

Meanwhile, Dictator Peron, sitting isolated in Argentina, worried over the Brazilian army's modern lend-lease equipment, rose to United States Army bait, and decided to go over the State department's head.

This he did, first by a personal letter to Eisenhower, later by having his chief of staff, Gen. von der Becke, resign and go to Washington as a private citizen.

The Argentine general, who is pure German and once openly stated that the German army could not lose the war, called on Eisenhower last week. When he walked into his office, he did not know that only two hours before the United States chief of staff had received a phone call from Assistant Secretary Spruille Braden seeking to put a damper on Ike's cordiality. Braden informed him that reports on Peron's inauguration were disquieting and the American ambassador had been roundly booed.

Eisenhower said thanks, he'd keep it in mind.

Ambassador Messersmith, in Buenos Aires, also had called Washington that morning.

HUNGARIAN PREMIER

PRIME MINISTER OF Hungary, Ferenc Nagy is shown on his arrival at LaGuardia Field, N. Y. He is here to make a goodwill tour of the United States as a guest of the State department.

Next day, Spruille Braden in the State department wrote a scorching memo pointing to the unusual length of time given von der Becke to make his decision. This is unprecedented in the mere exchange of formalities between army chiefs, who are not supposed to discuss policy especially when one of them is officially on his way to Johns Hopkins for a health checkup. Eisenhower's lengthy conference, Braden complained, had compromised the State Department's entire position.

Truman's Message Is Contradictory, Lawrence Says

By DAVID LAWRENCE
WASHINGTON, June 14 — Hypocrisy is a mild word to apply to the political chicanery whereby officially worded messages and documents nowadays seek to mislead the American people.

Despite the protestations of sincerity and fair-mindedness which characterize their self-appraisals, many of our public men continue to make statements which upon analysis are revealed as transparently contradictory.

This week, President Truman used the following language in his message vetoing the Case bill:

"We are not faced with a decision of choosing between this legislation and no legislation at all. It is more properly a choice between this particular bill and a more adequate and more inclusive solution of the problem."

Yet if the president has the slightest knowledge of the legislative situation in Capitol Hill, he must know that there will be no legislation on labor questions at this session of Congress if he continues to exercise his veto power.

Opportunity Ignored
The next bill to come before him will be his own proposal for emergency legislation empowering him to seize properties in essential industries when a major strike occurs. But that proposal may have in it a substantial part of the Case bill and this means another presidential veto, according to intimations from authoritative quarters. As long, therefore, as Mr. Truman insists upon a two-thirds vote of both houses as the only means of getting labor legislation enacted, there will be none. Yet he gives the country the impression that he really expects to be given an opportunity to consider corrective legislation to stop strikes and help solve labor disputes. Mr. Truman had the opportunity to correct some of the abuses in the Wagner law and ignored it.

In another paragraph of this week's veto message occurs this language:

Cites Roosevelt's Message
"In 1943, in the heat of a controversy over a stoppage of war production in the coal mines, the Congress passed the War Labor Disputes Act, providing commonly known as the Smith-Connelly act. In his veto message of June 25, 1943, President Roosevelt warned the Congress that the strike veto provisions of section 8 of the Smith-Connelly act would not lessen but would promote industrial strife. That prediction has been borne out by subsequent events. It is my belief that a similar result would follow the approval of this bill."

The foregoing gives the passing reader the impression that the Smith-Connelly law, which was enacted last week ago Saturday when the nation's economy had been paralyzed by the strikes, is the result of a similar result would follow the approval of this bill.

It says Here
Seattle—my airborne egg carnival of thirty men, ten girls and an older woman sat down in the Queen city of the northwest today and gave me an idea for a new picture. I'm going to call it "The Road to Seattle and back." It's on the life of Lewis and Clark. I know Crosby will be able to give me all the details, as I understand he went with them as far as Yakima. Thought it would be fun to advertise the show to have Jack Pepper jump up and sit on my shoulders and Skinnay sit on his as we walked to the stadium. We hadn't gone a block until I heard a kid turn to his mother and say, "Maw, there's a totem pole that moves."

Seattle is so close to Alaska that it has acquired a lot of old customs. In fact, they tell me one show played here once and the manager tried to pay off his cast with blubber. I think what impressed me most were the great fir trees. I found out that one was 400 years old. I also found out why my Great Dane can't sleep unless his nose is pointed toward the north. And most impressive of all is Mt. Ranier in the distance, standing there snowcapped like a white tooth.

I thought it would be appropriate to do a Burton Holmes on leaving so I stood on the runway at the airport and said farewell Seattle, city of hills and stately hemlocks. Yours a rugged state. That Piper Cub that I didn't see coming up the runway was no slinky either.

What troubled Peron, he said, were certain phrases in President Truman's message asking Congress to pass the standardization of equipment bill, which indicated that Argentina might be tied to fulfillment of "impossible demands" from the State department.

Stumbling-Block Braden
At this point, von der Becke really turned on the man-to-man stuff and spoke bluntly. Assistant Secretary of State Braden, he contended, was the only stumbling block to the establishment of the best relations ever enjoyed between the United States and Argentina.

Thereupon, he handed Eisenhower an English translation of a secret memorandum prepared by Peron and his advisers—including of course, von der Becke himself. The paper contained complete specifications for the equipment and training facilities which Argentina hoped to secure through the inter-American military co-operation plan.

Present Argentine material is entirely obsolete, von der Becke went on to explain, and must be replaced from one source or another. Brazil now has a modern streamlined army, and Argentina, as the most "advanced" nation in South America, cannot afford to be outdone. It is the earnest desire of Peron and his army chiefs to obtain their new arms in the United States, he said, but they must be obtained promptly, at all costs. (Von der Becke did not mention Russia by name, but the implication was strong that the only other source of extensive armament supplies was Soviet Russia.)

Braden Hits Ceiling
Eisenhower, however, played ball with the State department by telling the Argentine chief of staff that this matter would have to be referred to the secretary of state. He said the War department had no power to act.

Supreme Court Controversy Will Not Be Dropped

By MARK SULLIVAN
An impression may exist, distant from Washington, that the controversy in and about the supreme court may be dropped. That is not true.

There are two possible ways of handling it. One is, by action within the court. It is suggested that this controversy, bitter in its intensity, between individuals and groups within the court, may be composed by mollifying influence on the part of the new chief justice, Mr. Vinson, and that President Truman had this in mind when he chose Mr. Vinson. But Justice Jackson is on the court and is a party to the controversy, and he says it cannot "be soothed by a tactful presiding officer."

The other agency through which the controversy can be handled is the one on whose doorstep Justice Jackson laid it—the Judiciary committees of the two branches of Congress, and, above them, Congress itself. Responsible persons expect action in one quarter or another.

As Justice Jackson says, "The controversy goes to the reputation of the court for non-partisan and unbiased decisions."

Three Main Counts
The indictment made by Justice Jackson against Justice Black can be reduced to three main counts:

(1) In a suit before the court, between a labor union and a mining company, the lawyer for the labor union was a former law partner of Justice Black. In this situation, Justice Black did not withdraw himself, he sat with the rest of the court. For this, Justice Jackson does not charge Justice Black with violation of "honor," he charges him with "judgment as to sound judicial policy . . . I wanted that practice stopped . . . it would soon bring the court into disrepute."

(2) After the court's decision, in favor of the labor union, the mining company asked for a rehearing, citing the fact that Justice Black had failed to withdraw in the original hearing. This created a technical situation. The court does not have authority to grant a rehearing on the ground that a given justice sat in the case, because it does not have authority to require a justice to withdraw. What a justice should do in any case is within his own discretion. This is on the ground that after a justice has been appointed, and the Senate has confirmed him, his qualifications to act in any case must be taken for granted.

Objected Violently
In the present case, the court could have confined itself to merely denying the rehearing, without giving an opinion or comment. However, Justices Jackson and Frankfurter objected violently.

It is my belief that a similar result would follow the approval of this bill.

Seattle—my airborne egg carnival of thirty men, ten girls and an older woman sat down in the Queen city of the northwest today and gave me an idea for a new picture. I'm going to call it "The Road to Seattle and back." It's on the life of Lewis and Clark. I know Crosby will be able to give me all the details, as I understand he went with them as far as Yakima. wished to put it on record, for the litigant and the public, that the court did not have authority to pass on the propriety of Justice Black's sitting in the case. To this Justice Black objected violently. He said to Justice Jackson, as the latter now records, "that any opinion which discussed the subject at all would mean a declaration of war." In Justice Jackson's words, Justice Black's position amounted to saying, "I must join in covering up the facts or have war."

(3) On another occasion there was before the court another suit between a coal company and a labor union. At the same time there was a strike of the union against the company, with negotiations for settlement and a new contract under way. Justice Black tried to hurry the announcement for the court's decision, before there had been time to write an opinion, or for dissenting justices to write their dissent. Of this, Justice Jackson said: "The only apparent reason behind this . . . was to announce the decision in time to influence the contract negotiations."

There are the specific counts of Justice Jackson's indictment. Embracing them and beneath them is a broader issue, Justice Black is a zealous partisan of a school of political and social thought. The accusation against him by Justice Jackson, with others from other sources, read in the light of the background, amount to saying that Justice Black places "adherents to a partisan political, social and economic line" above the court's historic standards of, in Justice Jackson's words, "non-partisan and unbiased decision."

Bursitis, Joint Condition, Can Be Cured by X-Ray

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Anyone who knows the use of oil in an automobile engine readily understands the function of the bursas or fluid-filled sacs, which are located around the joints of the body. The method is different in each case, but the purpose is the same, to prevent friction.

For instance, in many cases, a tendon which connects a muscle with a bone will pass over a bursa and thus be protected from the effects of constant rubbing against the hard material of the bone. Like every other part of the body, the bursas are subject to disease or disorder.

In recent years, it has been noted that many persons suffer from deposits of calcium or lime salts occur in the bursa and in the tendon. This condition is known as calcifying bursitis. The most frequent location of this condition seems to be around the shoulder joints in what is known as the subacromial bursa.

Symptoms of Conditions

The symptoms of this condition consist of pain in the shoulder, often passing into the forearm and the hand. There may be numbness of the upper part of the arm, inability to make certain movements, especially placing the hands in the hip pockets, lifting an object or combing the hair. The pain may occur at night and awaken the patient, and force him to find a more comfortable position. The disorder, in some instances, may last over a period of years. Now and then, recovery occurs with or without treatment after a period of several months.

And here is where the x-ray comes into use again. When an x-ray is taken, the deposit of lime salts in the tendon is shown. Sometimes inflammation of the bursa may occur without any lime salt deposits. In order to make a diagnosis in such cases, according to Drs. Isaac W. Kaplan and Benjamin L. Hawkins of the Medical Corps of the United States Army, an injection of a local anesthetic may be made into the bursa. If this causes all the symptoms to clear up, it is probable that the trouble is due to bursitis, since such treatment would not relieve other disorders.

Recommend Treatment

The treatment which they advise for this condition is known as infiltration. The needle on a syringe is inserted over the tender spot in the shoulder. X-rays are then taken with the needle in place to make sure the point of it is near the calcium deposits. Then, a warm salt solution is slowly injected around the deposit in the bursa. At the same time, numerous punctures are made into the bursa.

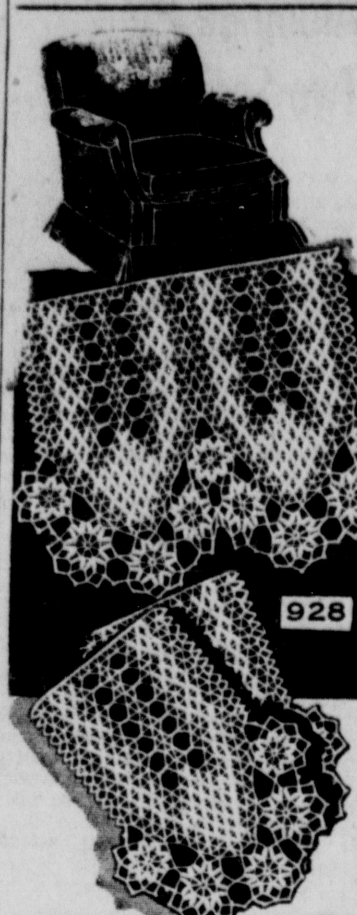

According to these physicians, if the treatment is carried out correctly, almost immediate relief is obtained. However, for the next twenty-four hours there may be some increase in the symptoms. Then again, the pain begins to disappear and in about four days has vanished.

During the period of treatment, the patient is encouraged to get under a warm shower and, as the moist heat renders movement easier, to further limber up the shoulder by mild exercise. Where a shower is not available, must the same result can be obtained by application of warm.

Lippel Discusses Kiwanis Program

Stating that every Kiwanian should take part in the club's activities, Clarence Lippel, local attorney and a member of the Cumberland Kiwanis Club, said Thursday that the committees of the organization should be integrated so that only those which are actually functioning are retained.

Lippel addressed fifty-five members at the weekly luncheon meeting in Central YMCA, pointing out that Kiwanis clubs all over the country were hearing similar talks on the value of the organization, in observance of "All Kiwanis" week. Praising the achievements of the local organization, which was instrumental in organizing the Allegany County League for Crippled Children, the Cumberland Community Chest and the Kiwanis Sunshine camp for underprivileged youngsters, Lippel called for a renewal of the enthusiastic interest of the 1920's and 1930's, when those projects were in the making. Within the past two years, the club has shown a more active interest in worthwhile projects like those already achieved, the speaker said, adding that the interest should be encouraged.

TO THE PUBLIC

A Statement by the Peskin's Store Employees
The Retail Clerks Union is taking this means of presenting their true story to the Public.

The Union has done everything possible to reach a fair and reasonable contract with Peskin's Shoe Store. We have negotiated and changed our requests from time to time in order that the strike could be settled with as little inconvenience to the Public as possible.

When the Employer refused a union shop contract, we then offered a preferential maintenance of membership which means that employees who are not members do not have to join the union; only those employees who are members and all new employees have to be members.

The Employer also withdrew his offers, including an increase in wages, which is not bargaining in good faith. When an offer is made by either side and then is withdrawn, they are not dealing fair or bargaining in good faith.

The wages we are requesting are far below those being asked by other Unions, and furthermore, other stores in Cumberland are paying as much as $20.00 per week more for clerks, and these stores are bargaining for higher wages with the Union for their employees now.

We are not asking any wages, conditions or benefits from Peskin's Store that we are not asking from other stores in Cumberland. Neither have we had any other Employer discharge six people for joining the Union as we contend Peskins did.

We intend to carry this fight on until the employees receive the wages and conditions Peskin's made as their last offer, and we know that our friends believe in fair dealing and will not cross our picket line while the clerks are striking for their democratic rights.

Bursitis, Joint Condition, Can Be Cured by X-Ray

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.
Anyone who knows the use of oil in an automobile engine readily understands the function of the bursas or fluid-filled sacs, which are located around the joints of the body. The method is different in each case, but the purpose is the same, to prevent friction.

For instance, in many cases, a tendon which connects a muscle with a bone will pass over a bursa and thus be protected from the effects of constant rubbing against the hard material of the bone. Like every other part of the body, the bursas are subject to disease or disorder.

In recent years, it has been noted that many persons suffer from deposits of calcium or lime salts in the bursa and in the tendon. This condition is known as calcifying bursitis. The most frequent location of this condition seems to be around the shoulder joints in what is known as the subacromial bursa.

Symptoms of Conditions
The symptoms of this condition consist of pain in the shoulder, often passing into the forearm and the hand. There may be numbness of the upper part of the arm, inability to make certain movements, especially placing the hands in the hip pockets, lifting an object or combing the hair. The pain may occur at night and awaken the patient, and force him to find a more comfortable position. The disorder, in some instances, may last over a period of years. Now and then, recovery occurs with or without treatment after a period of several months.

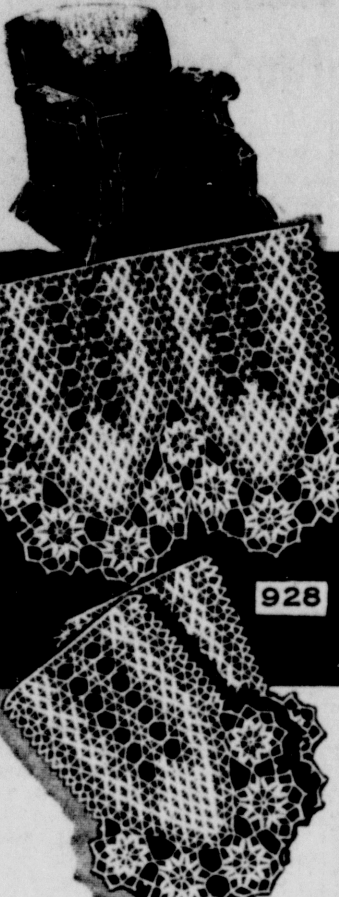

And here is where the x-ray comes into use again. When an x-ray is taken, the deposit of lime salts in the tendon is shown. Sometimes inflammation of the bursa may occur without any lime salt deposits. In order to make a diagnosis in such cases, according to Dr. Isaac W. Kaplan and Benjamin L. Hawkins of the Medical Corps of the United States Army, an injection of a local anesthetic may be made into the bursa. If this causes all the symptoms to clear up, it is probable that the trouble is due to bursitis, since such treatment would not relieve other disorders.

Recommended Treatment
The treatment which they advise for this condition is known as infiltration. The needle on a syringe is inserted over the tender spot in the shoulder. X-rays are then taken with the needle in place to make sure the point of it is near the calcium deposits. Then, a warm salt solution is slowly injected around the deposit in the bursa. At the same time, numerous punctures are made into the bursa.

According to these physicians, if the treatment is carried out correctly, almost immediate relief is obtained. However, for the next twenty-four hours there may be some increase in the symptoms. Then again, the pain begins to disappear and in about four days has vanished.

During the period of treatment, the patient is encouraged to get under a warm shower and, as the moist heat renders movement easier, to further limber up the shoulder by mild exercise. Where a shower is not available, must the same result can be obtained by application of warm,

If the deposits of calcium salts have not begun to disappear within four to six weeks, the treatment may be repeated a second time. This usually produces a complete cure.

Lippel Discusses Kiwanis Program

Stating that every Kiwanian should take part in the club's activities, Clarence Lippel, local attorney and a member of the Cumberland Kiwanis Club, said Thursday that the committees of the organization should be integrated so that only those which are actually functioning are retained.

Lippel addressed fifty-five members at the weekly luncheon meeting in Central YMCA, pointing out that Kiwanis clubs all over the country were hearing similar talks on the value of the organization in observance of "All Kiwanis" week. Praising the achievements of the local organization, which was instrumental in organizing the Allegany County League for Crippled Children, the Cumberland Community Chest and the Kiwanis Sunshine camp for underprivileged youngsters, Lippel called for a renewal of the enthusiastic interest of the 1920's and 1930's, when those projects were in the making. Within the past two years, the club has shown a more active interest in worthwhile projects like those already achieved, the speaker said, adding that the interest should be encouraged.

TO THE PUBLIC

A Statement by the Peskin's Store Employees

The Retail Clerks Union is taking this means of presenting their true story to the Public.

The Union has done everything possible to reach a fair and reasonable contract with Peskin's Shoe Store. We have negotiated and changed our requests from time to time in order that the strike could be settled with as little inconvenience to the Public as possible.

When the Employer refused a union shop contract, we then offered a preferential maintenance of membership which means that employees who are not members do not have to join the union; only those employees who are members and all new employees have to be members.

The Employer also withdrew his offers, including an increase in wages, which is not bargaining in good faith. When an offer is made by either side and then is withdrawn, they are not dealing fair or bargaining in good faith.

The wages we are requesting are far below those being asked by other Unions, and furthermore, other stores in Cumberland are paying as much as $20.00 per week more for clerks, and these stores are bargaining for higher wages with the Union for their employees now.

We are not asking any wages, conditions or benefits from Peskin's Store that we are not asking from other stores in Cumberland. Neither have we had any other Employer discharge six people for joining the Union as we contend Peskins did.

We intend to carry this fight on until the employees receive the wages and conditions Peskin's made as their last offer, and we know that our friends believe in fair dealing and will not cross our picket line while the clerks are striking for their democratic rights.

Maxwell Croft To Become Bride of Lee Howard

Miss Kitty Weber Will Be Hostess at Luncheon Honoring Bride-elect

The engagement of Miss Maxwell Croft, 217 Washington street, daughter of Mrs. Ernest Croft, Proctor, Texas, to Lee Howard, son of Dr. and Mrs. John Howard, Kharagpur, India, is announced. The wedding ceremony will be solemnized at 4 o'clock, June 22, in Reed Memorial chapel of First Presbyterian church, Baltimore, with the Rev. Dr. Kirk, pastor of the Franklin Street Presbyterian church and friend of the bridegroom, officiating.

Miss Kitty Weber, city, will be Miss Croft's maid of honor and only attendant. Lt. George Miller, USMC, schoolmate of Mr. Howard's in India and recently returned from service in China, will serve as his best man. Lt. (j.g.) John Croft, NAC, Patuxent River, will give his sister in marriage.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Dublin, Texas, high school, where she was editor of the school paper and active in dramatics. She received her degree at Baylor university, Waco, Texas, in August 1944. While there she was active in the Baylor Theater group and the radio department. Miss Croft came to Cumberland in December 1944 as a staff writer for WTBO. She is a member of Theta Chi and has appeared on various club programs giving readings.

Mr. Howard graduated from Woodstock school, India, where his father was stationed as a missionary and returned to the states in September 1941 to enter Baylor university. While there he served as president of the AED honorary pre-medical fraternity. He is also a member of Phi Beta Kappa. Mr. Hopkins where he is completing his studies.

Miss Weber will entertain in honor of Miss Croft with a luncheon at 1:30 o'clock today at All Ghan Shrine Country Club. The bridal motif will be in the decorations and covers will be laid for ten guests.

A miscellaneous shower was given by Mrs. Mabel Pope, Thursday evening at her home, 217 Washington street, honoring Miss Croft. A pink and white color scheme was carried out in the decorations and repeated in the streamers from the shower sprinkling can, suspended above the table. Approximately twelve guests attended.

LOCAL BOY SUFFERS POSSIBLE LEG INJURY WHILE PUSHING CAR

Jerry Liebel, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Liebel, was admitted to Allegheny hospital yesterday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock for observation and X-rays of a possible leg injury.

The lad told attaches he was helping to push a car when he slipped and fell, adding that the wheel of the car ran over his leg between the knee and the ankle.

R. H. Borst, 43, 722 Maryland avenue, was treated in the same hospital at 3:30 p. m. for a cut on the right foot. The B. and O. brakeman told attaches a piece of glass went through his shoe as he was walking in the weeds.

Ronald A. Smith, 14-year-old son of Charles Smith, LaVale, was treated in Allegheny hospital yesterday at 12:15 p. m. for a cut on the nose. He said he tripped and fell while playing football.

Mrs. Viola Spencer, 34, 464 Goethe street, was treated in the same hospital yesterday at 9:30 a. m. for an infected middle finger of the right hand. The Crystal laundry worker said the injury resulted from a scratch.

Events in Brief

Police Sgt. John E. Sherry, 532 Woodside avenue, received a Father's day greeting from his son, Petty Officer 3-c John H. Sherry, NAF, who has been stationed in Panama since May 31.

A meeting of the board of directors of the Police Boys Club will be held at 8 o'clock Monday evening at Central YMCA. Henry Price will give the committee report and Mrs. Nat Guggenheimer will report on the result of the campaign to raise funds to send boys to camp.

The Staff Social Club will hold a public card party Monday evening at the Junior Order hall. Prizes will be awarded and refreshments will be served.

The Walther League and the Men's Club of Trinity Lutheran church will hold a joint picnic at Camp Stillwater Sunday. Buses will leave the church at 1:30 p. m. Friends are welcome to attend.

Cumberland Chapter of Hadassah will meet June 24 instead of June 17 at Ber Chayim Vestry rooms. The Ladies Bible Class of St. Mark's Reformed church will meet at the summer cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Carl East, Port Ashby, next Monday, June 17 at 8 p. m.

Mr., Mrs. Miller To Mark Wedding Anniversary Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Miller will observe their fifty-first wedding anniversary with a family dinner tomorrow afternoon at their home, 609 Elm street, and will be at home to their friends during the afternoon.

The former Miss Nettie A. Hatterly was born in Thurmont, April 19, 1879 and came to Cumberland where she became the bride of John E. Miller. The ceremony was performed June 18, 1895, in the parsonage of First Methodist church, Bedford street, with the Rev. B. W. Kindley officiating. She and her husband are both members of Kingsley Methodist church, where she is a member of the Bible class. Her hobby is crocheting.

Mr. Miller was born in Johnsville June 27, 1871 and came to Cumberland with his parents when he was five years old. He was employed by the Baltimore and Ohio railroad as baggage master for eighteen years. He then accepted a position with the Potter Dye Works, where he was employed for twenty-three years, retiring in 1937.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller have two daughters, Mrs. John R. Dorn and Mrs. Harley E. Messman. They had four grandchildren, the former Sgt. John E. Dorn, and the former Sgt. Raymond C. Dorn, Mrs. Bruce Swann and the late Sgt. Harley E. Messman, who was killed in Germany, March 17, 1945. They also have two great-grandchildren, Harold III, and Bonnie Jean Swan.

Local Family Featured In Current Magazine

Members of the Hollen family, who resides at 324 1/2 Grand avenue, are featured in a series of eight pictures in the "Homemaker Department" of the July issue of True Story magazine, which appeared on newsstands yesterday from coast to coast.

The series illustrates how the family are meeting today's problems in their home. Pictures and an accompanying article run to five pages. From local True Story subscribers the Hollens were selected after an extensive survey to be featured in the current issue. The father of the family, Edgar L. Hollen, recently returned from army service.

Local News in Brief

One hundred and thirty newboys of the Times-News were guests Thursday and last night at the Marks show at Community park.

The public schools of Allegheny county completed their 1945-46 term yesterday with a short session at which students received report cards and learned the good or bad news about passing to the next grade. The summer vacation is expected to last until September 5, the Thursday following Labor day.

Sixteen Allegany Women Will Be RWSC Graduates

Mrs. Bertha Miller Will Complete Twentieth Course

The goal of 150 Allegany county women from the thirty-three Homemakers clubs, to attend the twentieth annual University of Maryland Extension Service Rural Women's Short Course, has been reached. Miss Maude A. Bean announces. Sixteen county women will receive certificates this year and seven will receive the "Eight Year" pin from Dr. H. C. Byrd.

"One World" is the general theme of the program for the week, June 17 to 22 at College Park, when an educational, inspirational and recreational program will be held. Public speaking, music appreciation and parliamentary law are among the study subjects for the intensive course, which also includes foods and nutrition, home furnishing and management; family living, clothing, English and landscape gardening.

Allegheny county club members of the class of 1946, who will receive their certificates Friday for completing the four years' course are: Mrs. Henry J. Croser, Lonaconing; Mrs. Earl V. Diehl, Wiley Ford, W. Va.; Mrs. Ruthella Pey, RD 3; Mrs. Ward N. Hanger, city; Mrs. Edward Jenkins, Frostburg; Mrs. Fannie Laird, Lonaconing; Mrs. Stella Wilson Lambert, Route 3; Mrs. Keyser, W. Va.; Mrs. Ellsworth Lewis, RD 5; Mrs. James Main, Lonaconing; Mrs. H. Earl Miller, Ellerslie; Mrs. Benjamin L. Moreland, city; Mrs. Frank A. Perdue, city; Mrs. William S. Rilling, RD 3; Mrs. Winnie Stakem, Lonaconing; Mrs. Pinley Thompson, Narrows, Va.; and Mrs. Karl Ziegler, Salisbury, Pa.

Eight-year pins will be presented to Mrs. John S. Cook, Sr., RD 5; Mrs. Edgar L. Hounshell, RD 5; Mrs. William A. Judy, Cresaptown; Mrs. Arthur C. Lancaster, city; Mrs. J. J. Lydinger, city; Mrs. B. C. Robinson, RD 2; and Mrs. Richard W. Trevas, city.

Regular class periods will be held each morning from Friday from 8 to 10 o'clock. The rest of each morning and the afternoon sessions, from 2 until 4 o'clock, will be assembly programs with well-known speakers on many topics revolving around the theme "One World."

Speakers on the Tuesday assembly programs will include: Rev. Walter H. Judd, Minn., former medical missionary and hospital superintendent in China; Miss Elizabeth Sweeney, household editor of McCall's magazine, who will describe the conveniences for new homes; and Mrs. Ernestine Becker McCollum, Johns Hopkins university professor of biochemistry.

Other nationally known speakers procured by Miss Venia Keller, assistant director of Extension, will be Mrs. Frances P. Bolton, Ohio congresswoman and farm owner; Dr. John C. Krantz of the University of Maryland School of Medicine; and Dr. Joseph E. Thorning, Frederick, noted exponent of better Pan-American relations, lecturer on sociology in the Catholic University of Chile, an honorary Fellow of the Historical and Geographic Institute of Brazil, and holder of the Venezuelan national decoration of the Order of the Liberator.

Mrs. Trevas has been selected by the university faculty to serve as pianist for the week. Twenty-three Allegheny county women will take part in the musical Thursday night which will be visitor's day. They will portray the Russian part in the musical "Hands Around the World," in which women from fourteen counties will take part.

Mrs. Bertha Miller, Oldtown, is the only woman from the county who has attended all twenty years of RWSC. Miss Bean said last evening. Less than one dozen throughout the state have been able to attend each year.

This year there will be fifty-nine Allegheny county women beginning the course. Twenty-two will be returning for the second year, thirteen for the third, sixteen for the fourth, twelve for the fifth, four for the sixth, two for the seventh and seven for the eighth.

Mrs. Edwin Lewis, Mrs. Irene V. MacDonald, Mrs. Arthur Phillips, Mrs. Robert N. Wilson and Mrs. J. Frank Young will be going for the ninth year. Mrs. Harry Stevens and Mrs. O. O. Wilson for the eleventh, Mrs. R. D. Robinson for the twelfth, Mrs. Joseph C. Horton and Mrs. George F. Johnson for the thirteenth, Miss Dora A. Lewis and Mrs. Lena Robinson for the fourteenth and Miss Bean for the seventeenth. The group will leave Monday by chartered bus.

Ruth Dougherty To Be Bride of George W. Martin

Ceremony To Be Performed in St. Patrick's Catholic Church Today

George Wellington Martin, son of Mrs. Josephine Martin, 525 Dilley street, will wed Miss Ruth Marie Dougherty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett A. Dougherty, 1211 Bedford street, today.

The wedding ceremony will be solemnized at a nuptial mass at 9 o'clock this morning in St. Patrick's Catholic church, with the Rev. Charles W. Bogan officiating and Thomas and Franklin Dougherty, brothers of the bride, serving as acolytes.

Miss Dougherty's bridal party will include her sister, Miss Kathleen Dougherty, who will be her maid of honor, another sister, Miss Audrey Dougherty, and Miss Joyce Boone, Washington, D. C. who will be the bridesmaids. John Briner will serve as Mr. Martin's best man and the ushers will be Robert Clark and Robert Dougherty brother of the bride.

Candelabra of tall white tapers and bouquets of white flowers against a background of ferns will decorate the altar. Mrs. Regis Holmberg Washington D. C. aunt of the bride will be vocalist and will sing "Ave Maria," "O Sanctissima," and "O Lord I Am Not Worthy." Sister Agnietta will accompany her at the organ and play the traditional wedding marches.

Sixteen Allegany Women Will Be RWSC Graduates

Mrs. Bertha Miller Will Complete Twentieth Course

The goal of 150 Allegany county women from the thirty-three Homemakers clubs, to attend the twentieth annual University of Maryland Extension Service Rural Women's Short Course, has been reached, Miss Maude A. Bean announces. Sixteen county women will receive certificates this year and seven will receive the "Eight Year" pin from Dr. H. C. Byrd.

"One World" is the general theme of the program for the week, June 17 to 22 at College Park, when an educational, inspirational and recreational program will be held. Public speaking, music appreciation and parliamentary law are among the study subjects for the intensive course, which also includes foods and nutrition, home furnishing and management, family living, clothing, English and landscape gardening.

Allegheny county club members of the class of 1946, who will receive their certificates Friday for completing the four years' course are Mrs. Henry J. Croser, Lonaconing; Mrs. Earl V. Diehl, Wiley Ford, W. Va.; Mrs. Ruthella Fey, RD 3; Mrs. Ward N. Hauger, city; Mrs. Edward Jenkins, Frostburg; Mrs. Fannie Laird, Lonaconing; Mrs. Stella Wilson, Lambert, Route 3, Keyser, W. Va.; Mrs. Elsworth Lewis, RD 5; Mrs. James Main, Lonaconing; Mrs. H. Earl Miller, Ellerslie; Mrs. Benjamin L. Moreland, city; Mrs. Frank A. Perdue, city; Mrs. William S. Rilling, RD 3; Mrs. Winnie Stakem, Lonaconing; Mrs. Finley Thompson, Narrows, Va.; and Mrs. Karl Ziegler, Salisbury, Pa.

Jerry Efros Will Wed Miss Ada Miriam Sacks

Ceremony Will Be Performed in Beth Jacob Synagogue Tomorrow

Miss Ada Miriam Sacks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Moe R. Sacks, 1025 Bedford street, will become the bride of Jerry Efros, son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Efros, Detroit, Mich., tomorrow.

The double ring ceremony will be solemnized at 5 o'clock in Beth Jacob synagogue with Rabbi Jacob Aronson, Beth Jacob temple officiating, assisted by Cantor I. Horowitz, Johnstown, Pa.

Miss Sacks will be her sister's maid of honor and the bridesmaids will be Miss Helma Turner, Pittsburgh, and Mrs. Herbert Kauffman, Detroit, sister of the bridegroom. Barbara Ann Oset will be the junior bridesmaid. Daniel Epstein, Detroit, will serve as Mr. Efros's best man and Ben Isaacson, cousin of the bride, and Herbert Kauffman will be the ushers.

Palms will decorate the temple and the wedding marches and a program of nuptial music will be played by Abram Kishner, violinist.

Mr. Efros will give his son in marriage. The bride, who will be given in marriage by her father, will be attired in a gown of eyelet material and organdie, with the fitted bodice of eyelet material and three-quarter length sleeves. Her organdie skirt will terminate in a sweeping train. A crown of small white flowers will hold her fingertip length net veil. She will carry a white Bible with a white orchid marker.

Her maid of honor's gown will be of teal blue and her head dress will be a maline crown and shoulder length veil of light blue. She will carry a bouquet of peach colored gladioli. Miss Turner will be dressed in light blue and Mrs. Kauffman in tea rose. Both will carry colonial bouquets. The junior bridesmaid will wear a pink taffeta gown and carry a colonial nosegay.

Mrs. Sacks has chosen a tangerine colored dinner dress with a gold band head dress, matching choker and ear rings for her daughter's wedding. With it she will wear an orchid corsage. Mrs. Efros will be attired in a green chiffon dress and a corsage of orchids will complete her costume.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Fort Hill high school, class of 1941, where she was a member of the orchestra for five years; served as president of the Library Club and secretary of the Theatians, during her senior year. She is also a member of the national honor society, Training at Montefiore Hospital School of Nursing, Pittsburgh, she enlisted in the ANC in November 1944 and graduated later in the month.

She received basic training at Fort Meade and Fort Storey, Va., Convalescent hospital. She also served at Fort Benning, Ga., and Camp Kilmer, N. J., before leaving for the Southwest Pacific, August 12, 1945. She served six months in the Philippines as a lieutenant and returned to the states in February, 1946.

Mr. Efros attended high school in Detroit and was attending Wayne university, Detroit, when inducted into the army. He served three years with eight months in the Philippine Islands and Japan, returning to the states last March. He is a member of Gamma Kappa Chi fraternity and since his discharge has returned to Wayne university, where he is majoring in pharmacy.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Sacks will entertain approximately 150 guests at dinner in honor of their daughter and her bridal party. The vestry room of the temple will be elaborately decorated with bouquets of assorted summer flowers for the occasion, and a four-tiered wedding cake, adorned with a miniature bride and bridegroom will center the bride's table.

Mr. Efros and his bride will leave for a wedding trip to Conneaut Lake, Pa., and for traveling the bride has chosen a light blue suit with brown accessories. They will reside in Detroit.

Democratic Women Plan Workers Dinner

The United Democratic Women's Club formulated plans for a banquet and received a report on the rally at Hagerstown at the meeting Thursday evening at the Queen City hotel, with Mrs. J. H. Griffin presiding.

The banquet will be held sometime in October and will be honoring the campaign workers. Chairmen will be appointed when activities are resumed in September after the summer recess.

The rally was reported by Mrs. Ada Conley Long, and was attended, she said, by all the candidates.

Dear Miss Fairfax: My brother who is in a general hospital would like to join the Disabled American Veterans. Can you give me any information about this group? What are the dues?

(MRS.) JOHN V.

The organization called Disabled American Veterans, or DAV as it is called, is composed exclusively of American citizens who have been wounded, gassed, injured or disabled while serving actively in the armed forces of the United States, or of some country allied with the United States, during time of war. It was founded in 1920 to aid disabled veterans and their dependents.

National headquarters are in Cincinnati, and its National Service Bureau is in Washington, D. C. Chapters are to be found in every locality, with a service officer, who is a disabled veteran, in charge. Annual dues are determined by each separate chapter, but usually membership is about $5 a year.

LIBERTY IS YOUR BIRTHRIGHT

RIGHT! GOD MEANT YOU TO BE FREE... YET YOU'RE EN-SLAVED. AND THERE'S NO LAW

He died... The years die, too. But still the war for freedom knows no end. Each man must fight that war, within himself, to be free from his own self wrought chains.

And then—

"LIBERTY IS YOUR BIRTHRIGHT!" he cried. "GOD GAVE IT TO YOU... TRY TO DESERVE THIS PRICELESS BOON."

Out of his own wretchedness and bondage came the words for those black men whose souls were still in chains—chains they, themselves, must break before they could be free.

Profit Cashing in Recently Buoyant Rails, Industrials Handicaps Market

NEW YORK, June 14.—(AP)—Light profit cashing in some recently buoyant rails and industrials handicapped the stock market today although a number of leaders successfully contested selling.

Dealings turned sluggish when irregularly cropped up after the opening. Steels, rubbers and special issues did fairly well but a number of these failed to hold. Transfers of 980,000 shares compared with 1,150,000 on Thursday's upswing.

In the rising contingent were Ray Cigars, up four points at $61; Paramount Pictures two and five-eighths at $77.87; Allied Chemical one and three-fourths at $211.25; American Can one and five-eighths at $104.50.

Retaining plus signs were Republic Steel, Youngstown Sheet, Great Northern, Texas Company, Standard Oil (N.J.), Electric Boat, Consolidated Vultee, American Telephone, Goodrich, Goodyear and International Harvester.

Santa Fe was off one and one-half at $118.50; Chrysler one and three-fourths at $130.25. Montgomery Ward one at $94.87 and North American one and one-fourth at $33.25. Other casualties were Bethlehem, General Motors, Southern Pacific, Baltimore and Ohio, Chesapeake and Ohio, Anaconda, United States Rubber, Douglas Aircraft, Westinghouse, General Electric, du Pont, J. C. Penney and Electric Power and Light.

Among curb advances were Caco Products, Hoe and Company "A", South Penn Oil, United Aircraft, Products and Texton Turnover. There were 450,000 shares versus 600 yesterday.

The bond market veered toward most of the session but demand was

Aircraft Warning Observers To Be Honored June 20

Turkey Dinner Planned by Frostburg Legion for Outpost Members

By RUDOLPH NICKEL
FROSTBURG, June 14 — Parady Post No. 24, American Legion, will sponsor a turkey dinner Thursday, June 20, at 6:30 p. m., at the Clary club in honor of eighty-five members of Outpost 24-B, aircraft warning service, which was active here during the war, working under the direction of the War department.

The outpost, one of similar groups organized in every section of the United States, was established here in 1941, and inactivated July 21, 1943, missing only eight hours and twenty minutes of service in the entire time.

The membership was made up of two ministers, a congressman, a county commissioner, a city attorney, two bankers, seven Potomac Edison electricians and office men, three insurance men, five garage men, six carpenters, twelve merchants, five retired men, three bus operators, a doctor, ten coal miners, an engineer, two bakers, a barber, a plasterer, a newspaperman, a mine inspector, eleven students, two coal operators, a sand operator, a gas company employee, a letter carrier, three truckmen and about thirty Celanese workers.

Many of the members were veterans of World War I and many others are now classified as veterans, having been inducted into the service while engaged as members of the outpost.

The observation post was first located on top of Big Savage mountain and later in a modern building on land donated by Mrs. Elizabeth Price, West Mechanics street.

Workmen Raze Old Garvey Home In Westernport

Two-story Brick Building Planned To Enlarge Hardware Store

By GEORGE W. DADDYSMAN
WESTERNPORT, June 14 — The former Garvey home in the rear of the Welsh Supply hardware store, Main street, is being razed by workmen. A 60-foot, front and 150-foot deep two-story building of brick and tile will replace the building and form part of the present hardware store, enlarging it. James A. Welsh, owner and manager of the store, has been in business here for thirty-one years.

A service station on the McCool road which he operated until recently, has been leased to the Standard Oil Company, which has leased it to Malcolm Knight.

Traffic Violators Arrested
In the past two weeks over a dozen motorists have been arrested by the Maryland State Police and city officers of Westernport on charges of speeding, disregarding stop signs, and faulty mufflers.

Officers are checking vehicles for faulty brakes, lights, tires, windshield wipers and horn.

Playground Meeting Set
Larry Patterson, director of the Tri-Towns Recreational Playground Association, and the committee who will select his two assistants, will meet at Bruce high school Monday to pass upon all applications which are in the hands of the committee at that time.

The playgrounds will be opened Monday, June 24, Patterson said.

Pastor Named Chairman
The Rev. Philip M. Cory, pastor of Piedmont, W. Va., Presbyterian church, was elected chairman of the Council of Churches of the Tri-Towns at its second meeting held last night in the Presbyterian church.

Other officers selected were the Rev. Foster M. Bittling, pastor of the Church of the Brethren, Westernport; Russell Hamilton, treasurer; and Mrs. Rymer Ferrell, secretary. These officers were all named by the nominating committee and were presented by the chairman, Mrs. Arthur Hartman who made the report on nominations. C. Bonner Hargreen was named chorister and Miss Madeline Knott, pianist.

Chairmen of committees who were appointed are those of Christian education, Mrs. John W. Fisher, who will appoint Sunday school superintendents as assistants; moral and social committee, Vernon A. Staggers, principal of Piedmont high school; Christian recreation and fellowship, John E. Grundle, athletic director of Bruce high school of Westernport.

Roy Harrison was named chairman of committee constitution and bylaws, to clarify the duties of those committees. Their findings will be presented at the next meeting, September 5, at Trinity Methodist church. After being approved the constitution and bylaws will be published in the press. Harrison will appoint assistants to prepare the rules.

It was decided that the council will meet every three months.

Section of Knobley Orchard Property Divided into Lots

New Keyser Owners Plan Public Auction Sale Some Time in July

By LUKE McDOWELL
KEYSER, W. Va., June 14—J. Keyser Blundon and Harry Oss, who purchased a section of the old Knobley orchard recently from Harry Marshall, have divided a portion of it into building lots which will be offered for sale at public auction some time in July.

The land lies on the east side of the cut-off road leading from the Blue Jay service station to United States Route 50 at the Knobley farm. The lots vary in size from sixty by 200 feet to two acres. Two of them face the highway.

The apple trees, once a part of the Knobley orchard, have been removed, and streets have been laid off and graded.

Mt. Lake Park Canning Plant To Be Rebuilt

President Leister Says Work Is Expected To Start in Ten Days

By GEORGE H. HANST
OAKLAND, June 14 — Plans to start reconstruction of the canning plant at Mt. Lake Park have been completed, according to R. E. Leister, Manchester, Md.; president of the Mt. Lake Canning Company, Incorporated, and actual work will get underway in about ten days by Edgar Hardesty, local contractor.

The building will be completed this fall and the company will be in a position to take care of the 1947 crop of peas and corn.

Leister announced that neither William Lambie nor the Southern Packing Company had any connections with the company whatsoever. The site of the Southern company's plant which burned last spring a year ago will be used for the new plant.

Leister said the warehouse will be a two-story building 100 by 160 feet, with a one-story factory section 80 by 140 feet. Modern new machinery is to be installed which will be ample to take care of 1,000 acres of each crop.

Wayne Treadway, member of the company's staff, has already moved to Mt. Lake Park; and Roland Shaffer, secretary of the company, is planning to move in the near future.

Knights of Pythians Elect
Garrett Lodge No. 113, Knights of Pythias, at an election at their last meeting chose Callis as chancellor; commander; Ralph Fauber, prelate; Charles Davis, master at arms; Lewis Jones, inside guard; Harry Coddington, outside guard; Richard O. Gorton, master of work; Walter Hardesty, keeper of records and seal; Milburn W. Mann, master of finance; A. G. Gortner, master of exchequer.

Miss Fitzwater Is Bride
Miss Hulda Alice Fitzwater, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Fitzwater, Swanton, became the bride of Russell Conwell Elliott, son of Mayor and Mrs. Jamie S. Elliott, Mt. Lake Park, on Sunday afternoon, June 9, at 3 o'clock. The double ring ceremony was solemnized at the Mt. Lake Bethel church; the Rev. W. Reese Burns, pastor, officiating.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Arthur Fitzwater, was attired in a white gown of satin and net. Her fingertip-length veil was held in place by a headband of satin and net. She carried a bouquet of white gladioli and small spring flowers.

Miss Mabel Fitzwater, Washington, D. C., was her sister's maid of honor. She wore a pink net gown and carried a bouquet of blue and pink spring flowers.

Best man was Frederick Thichnell, Oakland. Ushers were Harlan Beckman, Deep Creek Lake, and Robert Stevenson, Washington, D. C. Nancy Jo Fitzwater, Cumberland, niece of the bride, was flower girl.

Miss Dorothy Brock sang "I Love You Truly," while the wedding march was played by Miss Mary Mae Weeks.

Prior to her recent resignation, Mrs. Elliott was employed as deputy clerk in the office of the clerk of the circuit court. The bridegroom served forty-one months with the army air forces, and was discharged in February. Both are graduates of Oakland high school, class of 1938, and the bridegroom is also a graduate of Middlesex county vocational school of New Jersey.

A reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Fike, Oak Ridge, after the first of July they will reside in Plainfield, New Jersey, where the groom is employed.

John Mason Weds
Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Schmidt, Liberty, Ky., have announced the marriage of their daughter, Elizabeth, to John Robert Mason, Deep Creek Lake, Oakland, Saturday afternoon, June 8, at 3:30 o'clock, in St. Paul's Methodist church. The ceremony was performed by the pastor, Dr. Deane C. Picketts. The church was decorated with snapdragons and rhododendrons. Organ music was played by Julius B. Littman.

The bride was attired in a gray wool Eisenhower suit with black accessories and a corsage of gardenias. The groom wore a tuxedo with a light blue bow tie with black accessories and a corsage of gardenias. The best man was James Krause, Baltimore.

The bride is a graduate of Barstow high school, Barstow, Calif., and is employed as a stenographer at the Westco Pump Sales Company in Los Angeles. Lloyd Fisher Will Wed Miss James PARSONS, W. Va., June 14 — Announcement has been made of the engagement of Miss Patricia James, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William James, Wyandotte, Mich., and former Davis residents, to Lloyd Fisher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Fisher, also of Wyandotte.

The bride-elect, a granddaughter of Mrs. R. L. Rodgers, Davis was graduated from Roosevelt high school, Wyandotte, and is now employed in the office of a chemical plant there.

Mr. Fisher is also a graduate of Roosevelt high school and was recently discharged from the army after service in the ETO. He is employed at the same plant with his bride-elect. The wedding will be an event of the fall.

Ambulance To Be Obtained
William Bennett, chief of the Parsons Volunteer Fire Department, has announced that a used emergency car will be available for purchase about July 1. The car, a Packard, will be purchased from an Elkins funeral home and will be paid for by the special levy set by the town last year. The town will pay $1,000 of the $1,240 purchase price.

The ambulance will be owned and operated by the volunteer fire department and will be equipped with minor fire fighting equipment, coats and boots, resuscitator equipment and a flood lighting system. The ambulance will answer all fire calls and all emergency calls from Parsons and its surrounding towns. The old car now in use, that has answered fifty-nine calls to date this year will be used as an auxiliary equipment car.

Section of Knobley Orchard Property Divided into Lots

New Keyser Owners Plan Public Auction Sale Some Time in July

By LUKE McDOWELL

KEYSER, W. Va., June 14—J. Paul Blundon and Harry Oss, who purchased a section of the old Knobley orchard recently from Harry Marshall, have divided a portion of it into building lots which will be offered for sale at public auction some time in July.

The land lies on the east side of the cut-off road leading from the Blue Jay service station to United States Route 50 at the Knobley farm. The lots vary in size from sixty by 200 feet to two acres. Two of them face the highway.

The apple trees, once a part of the Knobley orchard, have been removed, and streets have been laid off and graded.

Bible School Closes
The vacation Bible school sponsored by the churches of Keyser, which has been in session for two weeks, closed today.

There were 310 pupils enrolled in the several departments. The average daily attendance was 255, a much larger enrollment and attendance than for the past few years.

The ministers of the co-operating churches express their gratitude to the many teachers and workers who gave so freely of their time and service in promoting the success of the school, and to the parents through whose co-operation the fine equipment and attendance was made possible today.

Miss Liller Is Wed
Miss Martha Lee Liller, granddaughter of Mrs. R. E. Liller, Second street, and William Marshall See, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ashby See, Morgantown, were married in Cumberland, June 10. The Rev. Donald F. Brake, pastor of St. John's Lutheran church, performed the ceremony in the church parsonage.

After a trip through Virginia the couple will reside at 179 Moele street.

Persons
Dr. Fred B. Wyand, district superintendent of Moorefield district of the Methodist church, entertained the ministers of the district and their wives with a hamburger fry at the district parsonage last evening. The Rev. and Mrs. Owen H. Dorsey, First church, and the Rev. and Mrs. Harry S. Myerly, Grace church, attended.

Mrs. Marion Simmons and Leo D. Melon, Keyser; Mrs. Marian Laughlin, Westernport, Md.; Miss Hilja Cosner, Mt. Storm, and Paul Hunt, Valley Park, have been admitted to Potomac Valley hospital.

Mt. Lake Park Canning Plant To Be Rebuilt

President Leister Says Work Is Expected To Start in Ten Days

By GEORGE H. HANST

OAKLAND, June 14 — Plans to start reconstruction of the canning plant at Mt. Lake Park will be completed according to R. E. Leister, Manchester, Md.; president of the Mt. Lake Canning Company, Incorporated, and actual work will get underway in about ten days by Edgar Hardesty, local contractor.

The building will be completed this fall and the company will be in a position to take care of the 1947 crop of peas and corn.

Leister announced that neither William Lambie nor the Southern Packing Company had any connections with the company whatsoever. The site of the Southern company's plant which burned last spring a year ago will be used for the new plant.

Leister said the warehouse will be a two-story building 100 by 160 feet, with a one-story factory section 60 by 140 feet. Modern new machinery is to be installed which will be ample to take care of 1,000 acres of each crop.

Wayne Treadway, member of the company's staff, has already moved to Mt. Lake Park; and Roland Shaffer, secretary of the company, is planning to move in the near future.

Knights of Pythias Elect
Garrett Lodge No. 113, Knights of Pythias, at an election at their last meeting chose Callis as chancellor; commander, John Criss, vice chancellor, Ralph Faulber, prolate, Charles Davis, master at arms; Lewis Jones, inside guard; Harry Coddington, outside guard; Richard O. Giot-felly, master of work; Walter Hardesty, keeper of records and seal; Milburn W. Mann, master of finances; A. G. Kertner, master of exchequer.

Miss Fitzwater Is Bride
Miss Hulda Alice Fitzwater, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Fitzwater, Swanton, became the bride of Russell Conwell Elliott, son of Mr. and Mrs. James S. Elliott, Mt. Lake Park, on Sunday afternoon, June 9, at 3 o'clock. The double ring ceremony was solemnized at the Bethel Methodist church (Mt. Lake Park) by the Rev. W. Reece Burns.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Arthur Fitzwater, was attired in a white gown of satin and net. Her fingertip-length veil was held in place by a headband of satin and net. She carried a bouquet of white gladioli and small spring flowers.

Miss Mabel Fitzwater, Washington, D. C., was her sister's maid of honor. She wore a pink net gown and carried a bouquet of blue and pink spring flowers.

Best man was Frederick Tichnell, Oakland. Ushers were Harland Beckman, Deep Creek Lake, and Robert Stevenson, Washington, D. C. Nancy Jo Fitzwater, Cumberland, niece of the bride, was flower girl. Miss Dorothy Brock sang "I Love You Truly" while the wedding march was played by Miss Mary Mae Weeks.

Prior to her recent resignation, Mrs. Elliott was employed as deputy clerk in the office of the clerk of the circuit court. The bridegroom served forty-one months with the army in France, and was discharged in February. Both are graduates of Oakland high school, class of 1938, and the bridegroom is also a graduate of Middlesex county vocational school of New Jersey.

A reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Fike, Oakland. After the first of July they will reside in Plainfield, New Jersey, where the groom is employed.

John Mason Weds
Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Schmidt, Liberty, Ky., have announced the marriage of their daughter, Elizabeth, to John Robert Mason, Deep Creek Lake, Oakland, Saturday afternoon, June 8, at 3:30 o'clock, in St. Paul's Methodist church. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. and Mrs. E. R. Fike, Oakland. The church was decorated with snapdragons and rhododendrons. Organ music was played by Julius B. Littman.

The bride was attired in a gray wool Eisenhower suit with black accessories and a corsage of gardenias. The best man was James Krause, Baltimore.

The bride is a graduate of Barstow high school, Barstow, Calif., and is employed as a stenographer at the Westco Pump Sales Company in Los Angeles. The bridegroom is a graduate of Oakland high school, class of 1941. Recently he received his honorable discharge from the marine corps where he served during World War II.

The couple left Tuesday for Los Angeles where Mr. Mason will further his education in hydraulic engineering.

Go to Church Sunday - Your Church - Any Church - But Go

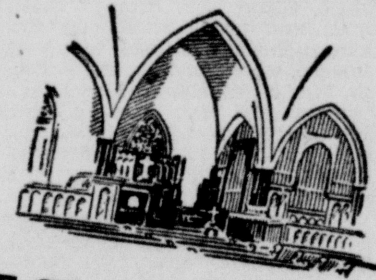

Hand in Hand

If only they could go through life that way! If our children could always face the difficult steps hand in hand with Mother and Dad.

But our children grow up and walk alone. And much as we would, we cannot always be near when the road is steep and strange. We cannot always teach the lessons that have to be learned, or answer the questions that have to be answered, or dry the tears that have to be shed.

But this we can do . . . we can give our children a Strength that will always conquer fear . . . a Truth that will always answer mysteries . . . a Comfort that will always heal sorrow. We can bring our children to the Friend who walks hand in hand with men . . . who loves and leads forever.

Parents! The Church is your servant in teaching your children the Truth and Faith that will become their most treasured possessions. And the Church is the servant of Christ in bringing you and your little ones to Him.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend and support the church of his choice. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church on Sunday.

Learning About the Kingdom

HIGHLIGHTS ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for June 16 is Matt. 6:9-13, Luke 9:18-27, 46-48, 57-62; 11:1-4, 12:1-12; 20:21, 21, the Memory Verse being Matt. 6:10, "Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done, as in heaven, so on earth.")

"IT CAME to pass that as He was praying in a certain place, when He ceased, one of His disciples said unto Him, Lord, teach us to pray, as John also taught His disciples."

Jesus answered them, "When ye pray, say, Our Father which art in heaven, hallowed be Thy name. Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done, as in heaven, so on earth."

"Give us day by day our daily bread. And forgive us our sins; for we also forgive every one that is indebted to us. And lead us not into temptation; but deliver us from evil."

Jesus' prayer is a very simple one, isn't it? We ask that God, our Father's name be hallowed here on earth. That means, if we are sincere in our petition, that we will not blaspheme or take God's name in vain, but will truly exalt it.

We ask for daily bread; not luxuries, only bread that we may live. Comforts that we receive in life are not to be despised, nor even luxuries, but we ask but for what is necessary.

Then we ask that our sins be forgiven us as we forgive others their sins against us. If we do not freely forgive those who sin against us, how can we ask that our sins be forgiven? And by forgiveness is meant not only lip service saying we forgive, but really overlooking the offense and admitting the offender to the fellowship, or, if not that, at least holding no grudge against him. We expect others to forget our transgressions completely, but only can we demand that if we also forget theirs.

Finds Them Arguing
Jesus had emphasized in His teaching and training of His disciples that a life of service was what He expected of them. "If any man would come after Me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross and follow Me." Even so, He found them arguing among themselves as to who would be greatest in the kingdom of heaven.

It seems impossible that these men who lived with the Lord, saw His self-sacrifice and heard His teaching, could stoop to so low an argument. "And Jesus, perceiving the reasoning of their heart, took a child, and set him by Him, and said unto them, Whosoever shall receive this child in My name receive Me; for he that is least among you all, the same shall be great."

Luke doesn't tell us what the disciples' reaction to this rebuke was, for John changed the subject, according to Luke. The little child, the most helpless and least egotistical of beings, was used as an illustration of the humility and lack of self-seeking that Jesus expected of His friends and the bearers of His gospel.

"And it came to pass, that as they went their way, a certain man said unto Him, Lord, I will follow Thee whithersoever Thou goest. And Jesus said unto him, Foxes have holes, and birds of the air have nests; but the Son of Man hath not where to lay His head."

Jesus had no home. In the intervals of His travels when He needed rest, there was no where He could go. Nazareth had cast Him out. He had left Capernaum; the Samaritans refused to receive Him. He wanted this man to realize, not Christ's poverty, but the wandering life of self-denial he would be forced to lead if he followed the Master.

A man Jesus commanded to "Follow Me," said he first must go and bury his father. This really meant that his father was old and he did not feel he could leave him until his death. But Jesus told him that his work was to go and preach the gospel, and nothing should come before that duty.

Another said, "Lord I will follow Thee; but let me first go bid them farewell, which are at home in my house;" and received the same answer. "No man having put his hand to the plough, and looking back, is fit for the kingdom of God."

Those who are attune with the teachings of Jesus, have the kingdom of God in themselves, or "amongst them," as the revised version says. So we pray, as Jesus taught us, "Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done, as in heaven, so on earth," and try to so live that we help its coming.

Bees Take Over Auto

HAGERSTOWN, Md., June 14 (AP)—Things started buzzing for Charles Myers when he left his automobile's rear trunk door open. A queen bee and her court moved in under street of the housing shortage and closing the trunk lid didn't help because there was a small opening in the back seat. Building a smudge fire under the car didn't work either and Myers says the queen has not abdicated yet.

HIGHLIGHTS ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for June 16 is Matt. 6:9-13; Luke 9:18-27, 46-48, 57-62; 11:1-14, 12:1-12; 17:20, 21. The Memory Verse being Matt. 6:10, "Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done, as in heaven, so on earth.")

"IT CAME to pass that as He was praying in a certain place, when He ceased, one of His disciples said unto Him, Lord, teach us to pray, as John also taught His disciples."

Jesus answered them, "When ye pray, say, Our Father which art in heaven, hallowed be Thy name. Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done, as in heaven, so on earth."

"Give us this day our daily bread. And forgive us our sins; for we also forgive every one that is indebted to us. And lead us not into temptation; but deliver us from evil."

Jesus' prayer is a very simple one, isn't it? We ask that God, our Father's, name be hallowed here on earth. That means, if we are sincere in our petition, that we will not blaspheme or take God's name in vain, but will truly exalt it.

We ask for daily bread, not luxuries, only bread that we may live. Comforts that we receive in life are not to be despised, nor even luxuries, but we ask but for what is necessary.

Then we ask that our sins be forgiven us as we forgive others their sins against us. If we do not freely forgive those who sin against us, how can we ask that our sins be forgiven? And by forgiveness is meant not only lip service saying we forgive, but really overlooking the offense and admitting the offender to the former friendship, or, if not that, at least holding no grudge against him. We expect others to forget our transgressions completely, but only can we demand that if we also forget theirs.

Finds Them Arguing
Jesus had emphasized in His teaching and training of His disciples that a life of service was what He expected of them. "If any man would come after Me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow Me." Even so, He found them arguing among themselves as to who would be greatest in the kingdom of heaven.

It seems impossible that these men who lived with the Lord, saw His self-sacrifice and heard His teaching, could stoop to so low an argument.

Another said, "Lord I will follow Thee; but let me first go bid them farewell, which are at home in my house," and received the same answer, "No man having put his hand to the plough, and looking back, is fit for the kingdom of God."

Being asked by the Pharisees when the kingdom of God was to come on earth, He answered, "The kingdom of God cometh not with observation. Neither shall they say, Lo here! or, lo there! for, behold, the kingdom of God is within you."

Those who are attune with the teachings of Jesus, have the kingdom of God in themselves, or "amongst them," as the revised version says. So we pray, as Jesus taught us, "Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done, as in heaven, so on earth," and try to so live that we help its coming.

Bees Take Over Auto

HAGERSTOWN, Md., June 14 (AP)—Things started buzzing for Charles Myers when he left his automobile's rear trunk door open.

A queen bee and her court moved in under street of the housing shortage and closing the trunk lid didn't help because there was a small opening in the back seat. Building a smudge fire under the car didn't work either and Myers says the queen has not abdicated yet.

Over 4,000 Persons View Iron Lung Exhibit

Upwards of 4,000 persons have visited the Iron Lung exhibit on Baltimore street this week, according to George Lambert, in charge. The exhibit is sponsored by the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce, and is for the benefit of the children of the country for educational purposes, and to create interest in the iron lung and its use.

the kids and their parents. This replaces the defunct Saturday review.

A third new Saturday series is to deal with the problems of education as "The Schools Are Yours" on NBC at 3:30 p. m. It will consist of dramatizations, starting with "Return of a Teacher," or the story of a war hero seeking to return to his profession.

Again the novel, "The Hucksters," novel of advertising agencies and radio, is on the schedule of review in Of Men and Books on CBS at 1 p. m. It's the second postponement.

More going from the national open at Cleveland will be made available by ABC. Times are 1:30 and 5 p. m. . . . Horse racing is on the schedule of three nets, NBC, MBS and ABC at 3:15. It is supposed to be the Dwyer stakes at Aqueduct, N. Y.

Dr. Roy Harris is to be on the podium for the Saturday concert hour of ABC at 4 as the first of two guests. Included will be the first network presentation of "Prisoner of War Rhapsody."

the kids and their parents. This replaces the defunct Saturday review.

A third new Saturday series is to deal with the problems of education at "The Schools Are Yours." On NBC at 3:30 p. m. it will consist of dramatizations, starting with "Return of a Teacher," or the story of a war hero seeking to return to his profession.

Again the novel, "The Hucksters," a novel of advertising agencies and radio, is on the schedule of review in Of Men and Books on CBS at 1. It's the second postponement.

More golfing from the national open at Cleveland will be made available by ABC. Times are 1, 3:30 and 5 p. m. Horse racing is on the schedule of three nets, NBC, MBS and ABC at 3:15. It is supposed to be the Dwyer stakes at Aqueduct, N. Y.

Dr. Roy Harris is to be on the podium for the Saturday concert hour of ABC at 4 as the first of two guestings. Included will be the first network presentation of "Prisoner of War Rhapsody."

Times listed are those supplied by networks. Relay times by local stations may vary in some instances.

DAYLIGHT SAVINGS NOTE — All times PM eastern standard.

To change to eastern daylight, add one hour; central daylight same as eastern standard.

On the other hand, for central standard subtract one hour; for mountain standard subtract two hours.

Times listed are those supplied by networks. Relay times by local stations may vary in some instances.

Over 4,000 Persons View Iron Lung Exhibit

Upwards of 4,000 persons have visited the Iron Lung exhibit on Baltimore street this week, according to George Lambert, in charge. The exhibit is sponsored by the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce, and is one of a series being held throughout the country for educational purposes, and to create interest in the iron lung and its use.

In Memoriam
In loving memory of Wilbur E. Aronhalt, who died June 14, 1946.
A precious one from us has gone,
A voice we loved is still
A place is vacant in our home
Which never can be filled.
Sadly missed by his

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank our friends and neighbors who were so kind to us in our recent bereavement. The death of our wife and mother, Lucy Peckles. We also wish to thank the Rev. Fred J. Zimmerman, those who sent floral tributes, the pallbearers and those who loaned cars for the funeral.

HARPER—The family of the late Mrs. Mattie B. Harper wish to extend their sincere appreciation to all their friends for their many expressions of sympathy in cards, letters, telegrams, floral tributes and lending of cars.

DAUGHTER, FLORENCE M. HARPER, SISTER, MARY M. YOUNG.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Wilbur E. Aronhalt, who died June 14, 1946.

A precious one from us has gone,
 A voice we loved is stilled.
 A place is vacant in our home
 Which never can be filled.

Woman and Baby Killed, Three Injured as Train Hits Car at Hyndman

Coupe Is Dragged 400 Yards by Steam Locomotive after Crash at Bruner's Corner Crossing of B. and O.; Machine "Pleated Like an Accordion," Bystanders Report; Man Is Unconscious

Two persons were killed and three others injured, two of them seriously, when the car in which they were riding was struck by an east-bound Baltimore and Ohio cattle train on the main line crossing in Hyndman, Pa., last night at 8:25 o'clock.

The dead, who were taken to the Zeigler funeral home in Hyndman, were identified as: Miss Evelyn Logsdon, about 19, Hyndman, Pa., who was dead when she was pulled from the wreckage of the car.

Clyde Logsdon, 6-months-old son of Melvin and Nellie Logsdon, Hyndman, Pa., was alive when he was taken from the car but died at 8:30 p. m. at the home of Paul Brode.

Injured admitted to Memorial hospital here were: Homer Troutman, 19, Hyndman, Pa., who was the driver of the car, who was reported in a good condition at 11:35 p. m., and was suffering from shock but showed no outward injuries.

Unconscious at Midnight: Paul "Butch" MacKenzie, Route 1, Hyndman, Pa., was taken to the hospital in an unconscious condition. He is suffering from unconsciousness and was reported in a "fair" condition. He was still unconscious shortly after midnight.

The steam locomotive struck the right front door of the 1940 Ford coupe at Bruner's corner and dragged the one-seated vehicle beyond the Washington street crossing and past the railroad depot for a distance of 400 yards.

A sign on the crossing indicates that the thoroughfare is protected by a watchman only from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m. The coming of the train is indicated by a bell signal, which residents say doesn't always work. Railroad officials here said the train usually reaches Cumberland about 10 p. m.

Troutman, the driver, was able to walk away from the vehicle when the victims were extricated from the car.

Motor Driven Back: Most seriously injured was MacKenzie, who was sitting on the right of the seat and holding Mrs. Logsdon, who was killed instantly on his lap, authorities said. They apparently took the brunt of the terrific crash, but it was reported that MacKenzie's body did not show a scratch.

Bystanders reported the car was "pleated like an accordion" and that the motor was driven back to the seat and the right door driven in as far as the steering wheel.

Demand for City Lots Increases

Because of the increased demand for city-owned lots, the city council yesterday decided either to receive sealed bids or auction off five lots on Roberts street, which are sought by two men.

Some weeks ago through an attorney, William M. Somerville, P. R. Garland offered $500 for the lots. Later he upped the figure to $600.

This week Edgar S. Rice, who Mayor Thomas S. Post said plans to invest $75,000 in an unnamed enterprise at the site, submitted a bid for $625. Yesterday Garland appeared before the council with a check for $625.

Mayor Post said both men are his friends and he suggested sealed bids or an auction. Commissioner Clifton E. Fuller pointed out such action because only one person has sought to buy lots while the other has sold. Fuller said the city holds a $225 lien against the lots. The matter of reaching a decision on the method of sale was referred to City Attorney Charles Z. Heskett.

Garland wants the lots for the Cumberland Petroleum Company for a bulk storage plant.

The application of John Basile, president, for a tax exemption for the property of the Societa' di M. S. Cristoforo Colombo at 111 North Mechanic street, also was referred to Heskett for his opinion. The letter pointed out the society receives no rentals for the property's use.

The application of the National Labor Relations Board for permission to hold a hearing before a trial next Friday was approved. The written request was made by Earl K. Shove, Baltimore, regional attorney.

Bedford Man Sentenced To Ten Days in Jail

Glenn Moyers, Bedford, Pa., was sentenced to ten days in jail yesterday morning in default of a $10 fine on a charge of brandishing a gun on Baltimore street Thursday morning while intoxicated.

Police said Moyers, leaning on a curb with a whisky bottle in his hand, stopped a local pedestrian to ask the way to Keyser. Suddenly Moyers pulled out a revolver and demanded to be taken there, officers added.

Taken into custody, Moyers was later questioned at the state's attorney's office. The revolver was not loaded, police reported.

Soldier In Italy Is Given Divorce From LaVale Wife

Chief Judge William A. Huster yesterday awarded an absolute divorce to a GI now stationed in the province of Livorno, Italy, from his LaVale wife.

The soldier, Stephen Lamar Brown, 21, represented by Umer G. Carl, brought proceedings against his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Brown. He also granted the custody of their son, aged three, to the wife.

Brown was represented by his mother, Mrs. Laura Virginia Ensmart, 38, Rawlings. The soldier's father, S. L. Brown, Cresaptown, also testified in behalf of his son.

The defendant was charged with being unfaithful to her husband. They were married in 1942 and lived in LaVale.

James M. Coker, 25, 329 Central avenue, was granted an absolute divorce from Mrs. Florence R. Coker with the defendant granted the custody of their daughter, Manilla Early, 3.

According to his attorney, Julius E. Schindler, they were married in 1942 and separated in 1944, while the husband was in the service.

Asking a partial divorce, Mrs. Eliza Glass, McCoolle, filed suit yesterday against Arthur Glass. Her attorney, Edward J. Ryan, said they were married in 1921 and have four children, 25, 23, 21 and 19. All but the eldest are at home, she said.

Mrs. Glass said she owns a restaurant and dance hall at McCoolle, and that her husband has been operating it, but failed to account for the revenue and had ordered her out of the place. Chief Judge Huster ordered Glass to give his wife an accounting of the revenue of the establishment and restrained him from molesting her.

Mrs. Mary W. Lacy, Cumberland, filed suit for an absolute divorce from Robert J. Lacy, a soap salesman. The wife, represented by Norman E. Getty, said they were married in 1933 and lived in Winchester, Va., and Cumberland. Mrs. Lacy and her two children, 10 and 8, reside with Lacy's mother, Mrs. Maude Lacy. She said her husband earns at least $250 a month, and had promised to pay $15 a week for support of the children, but failed to do so.

Judge Huster ordered Lacy to pay $20 weekly alimony pending a decision in the case.

Beall Asks OPA For More Sugar

Rep. J. Glenn Beall has asked Paul Porter, of the Office of Price Administration, to grant additional sugar allotments for canning and preserving purposes.

Beall said that since the "Sixth section" is in the heart of the distribution, it certainly is not understandable that we cannot have enough sugar to take care of this fruit.

"Because there is such a scarcity of food, why can't our people have enough sugar to make their preserves and jar their fruit in order that they may have food next winter," Beall said he asked Porter. Beall added that he is doing everything possible to have the increased sugar allotment granted.

In the past week Rep. Beall has been attending daily meetings of the sub-committee of the House District committee considering rent control on commercial property.

Rep. Beall voted for the bill providing terminal leave for enlisted men. Prior to that he signed the bill to have this legislation brought before the House because the committee did not act.

Panhandler Shells Out for Charity

The man with a package under his arm on the way to the post office was accosted on South Mechanic street by a man in wrinkled clothes who said, "Can you help me out, chum? I'm broke and a long way from home."

The man with the package gave the panhandler a dime and continued on to the postoffice.

Returning to Baltimore street from the postoffice, the good samaritan saw the same panhandler in a wrinkled coat pull out a fist full of change from his pocket and gallantly put some of it in the tambourine of a young woman soliciting for the Volunteers of America.

The solicitor for the Volunteers passed on after murmuring a few words of thanks and a few seconds later the panhandler nailed another citizen for a handout.

The proffered coin went into the man's pocket already bulging with loose change.

Still another panhandler operating in the vicinity of the Veterans of Foreign Wars lodge rooms had a somewhat different approach.

AUTO WRECKED BY TRAIN—The Ford coupe struck by a fast Baltimore and Ohio cattle train at 8:25 o'clock last night at Bruner's corner crossing in Hyndman, Pa., in which two people were killed and three others injured, is shown here, near the Hyndman depot after it was dragged over 400 yards. The driver of the car walked away from the accident but was admitted to Memorial hospital here for treatment of shock. A 19-year-old Hyndman girl and a 6-months-old baby were killed in the crash. Another young man and a young woman were seriously injured. The car was damaged beyond repair. There is no watchman at the crossing in Hyndman between 7 p. m. and 7 a. m. (see story).

War Surplus Equipment Expected To Speed Beall High Landscaping

Playing Field Project Will Get Underway Soon, Kopp Says

Beall high school's new playing field and landscaping program should be in full swing by the end of this summer as the result of yesterday's announcement by School Superintendent Charles L. Kopp.

With the program to get the Beall high field and grounds in shape lasting ever since the war, Superintendent Kopp and Joseph Downey, staff member, recently decided to try and obtain war surplus grading equipment to be operated by the board of education.

With army authorities co-operating, the board this week received its first delivery of equipment, a flat car—including a road scraper and a roller.

Bulldozer Promised School authorities state that the ordinance authorities at Bell Meade, N. D., have promised delivery of one of their big bulldozers with carryall attachment.

While the new equipment is to be used for all grading and excavation projects in the school system, Superintendent Kopp stated that the Beall high school project has first priority for two reasons. They are:

1. The board is desirous of advancing the outside physical education program at the school which has been limited in the past.

2. The board wishes to properly landscape the grounds. Beall high school grounds and change was characterized as a previous "eyesore" into a beauty spot that will properly set off the beauty of the modernistic school building.

Superintendent Kopp did not make any definite statements about how soon he thought the job at Beall high could be completed but said "It is the board's desire that the work be carried on as expeditiously as possible so that the grading may be finished by the end of summer."

The plane trip, which is expected to take about four hours, will be made nonstop to Jackson, Miss. The party will be met there by army cars and taken to Vicksburg. The return trip is expected to be made Tuesday.

Urges Joint Action The move to send a Ridgeley delegation to Vicksburg developed as a result of a recent Cumberland-Ridgeley conference held at the city hall. The meeting was attended by Rep. J. Glenn Beall, of Maryland, and Rep. Jennings Randolph, of West Virginia. Both congressmen urged joint action on the part of Cumberland and Ridgeley after warning that any opposition or disagreement would probably result in the House of Representatives Appropriations committee declining to provide funds.

The flood committee, of which Rep. Beall is a member, has already submitted a favorable report to Congress and action is expected soon.

Made Personal Contacts Superintendent Kopp said the members of his staff did not rely on letters to get what they wanted but by personal contact with proper army authorities.

The sole purpose in obtaining the new equipment is to cut costs and the school authorities estimated yesterday that having the new equipment will provide one substantial cut.

School officials admitted they are pleased with the results of their attempt to obtain the equipment as they are particularly anxious to see the Beall high school program completed.

Local Vets To Attend Blue and Gray Reunion

H. Frank Hinze, Randolph Mill, hollard and a number of other members of William C. Kirby Post No. 70, Twenty-ninth Division Association, will attend the Blue and Gray convention and reunion a foot.

The association is made up of posts in Maryland, Virginia, and New Jersey, where most of the men comprising the Twenty-ninth Division in the two World wars are from.

Seek Missing Girl Police were asked yesterday to locate Dorothy Hess, 18, who is reported missing from her home in Eckhart. Police were told she weighs 135 pounds, has brown hair and was wearing a blue and yellow sweater, waist length dark blue coat and brown shoes when last seen.

69-Year-Old Man Escapes Injury When Hit by Cab

A 69-year-old man apparently escaped injury yesterday morning about 10 o'clock when he was struck by a taxicab at the intersection of Virginia and Laine avenues, police reported.

Police said William Keller, 420 Cedar street, was examined in Memorial hospital for possible right hip injuries, but X-rays indicated the bone was not fractured, and the man was able to return to his home.

Detective Edwin R. Lila, who investigated, said witnesses said Keller had started to cross the street when he was struck by the cab. Lila said he was told the cab was driven by Dewey Shoemaker. No charges were preferred.

State Secretary Says Registration Law Applies Here

Chaney Rules Non-voting Registered Voters Must Re-register

The law enacted last year by the legislature whereby voters who have not cast ballots in five years must re-register in order to vote in the primary June 24 and the general election in November applies to Allegheny county and is a state-wide measure, Secretary of State Edward G. Chaney said yesterday.

The secretary of state said the law provides that all persons on the registration books should be notified by the various county boards of election supervisors before June 18 and advised that they must re-register in order to vote this year. Chaney said that a check of his records from the counties shows "there is nothing to indicate any such action has been taken in Allegheny county."

Have Continuous System Chaney said that Baltimore city, Montgomery and Washington counties have a continuous system of registration, and that persons may register at any time. In other counties, including Allegheny, certain days are set aside for registration and the election supervisors, under the 1945 act, are required to check the books and determine the number of persons who have failed to cast ballots in the last five years. Before their names can be stricken from the rolls, they must be notified by the board that they have an opportunity to re-register on June 18.

Many voters in the county have been uncertain on their status and the Allegheny election supervisors Tuesday night declined to make any statement on the question, saying that they would await an opinion by Edward J. Ryan, attorney to the board.

Ryan said last night that persons who had not voted for five years will be allowed to vote in the primary regardless of the statement by the secretary of state.

Chaney suggested, however, that it will be advisable for Allegheny county citizens who have not voted in five years to re-register after the primary if they wish to vote in the general election in November.

Ryan Thinks It Unfair Ryan said last night, "You can quote me as saying that I do not think it is fair to the voters to have any wholesale striking off of names out of a clear blue sky. The right of franchise, in my opinion, is one of the few remaining privileges that we have left. It is too important to jeopardize this right without giving the voters a full opportunity to become acquainted with this new law."

Previously, Ryan had held in his opinion that the law would not be effective in Allegheny county. The city is receiving the election supervisors in Frederick county said he was of the same opinion as Ryan.

Supervisor's Duties Cited Keegan's suggestion came after the council had approved a list of play leader appointments recommended by the park board. In answer to a question by Keegan, Mayor Post explained the supervisors are Ralph Stein, who will receive $114 monthly, will visit each playground twice daily and see that a suggested program is carried out.

Commissioner Myers G. Light commented on the fine support the city is receiving from residents of the section in establishing a playground for children under the age of 12 years at Columbia Street school. He said that $50 already has been raised for the construction of a shelter and that more money is expected. It will be used to help buy equipment. The location of the proposed location of a field of Independence street had not proved to be practical.

Leaders Appointed The wage for play leaders was fixed at $18.50 weekly for five days. Light said he will check to determine if playgrounds should be kept open Saturday. The following leaders were appointed:

Bettie E. Kingston and Miss Emma L. Clark, North End; Mrs. Inez Dixon, Pennfield; Ruth Ann Richards and Nola Post, Bard, Mt. Royal; Mrs. Frances Frey and Mrs. Betty Frey, East Side; Odessa Neal and Mrs. Paul Burk West Side; Mrs. Rodger Koegel and Mary Jane Ervin, Gephart; Mrs. Lila Arnold, Columbia street, and Daisy M. Dart, Pine Avenue.

Melvin Washington was named utility man at Pine Avenue at a wage of $19.50 weekly.

Commissioners Accept Invitation To Help Speed Work on Dam

An invitation from Mark W. Roe, chairman of the Potomac River board, to join the group in efforts to speed completion of the Savage River dam and methods of combating pollution of the river, was accepted yesterday by the board of county commissioners.

Chairman Roe said a meeting of the board and the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin will be held soon, and urged the commissioners to join the group in the discussions. He said that army engineers have recently completed a re-survey of the area and recommended steps to complete the dam and to alleviate pollution of the river.

Cumberlander Is Heard On "People Are Funny" Radio Broadcast

Cumberland received a "plug" on a national radio show last night, and one of the city's well known young soldier-citizens "got socked in the face with a pie."

On the "People Are Funny" show, one of the participants was Capt. Armond Silvestri, formerly employed at Rosenbaum's store here for a number of years prior to entering the service at the outbreak of the war.

He was a guest at the radio show in New York, and engaged in a skit with a sailor and the master of ceremony. The sailor hit him in the face with a "pie" and Capt. Silvestri was presented with an expensive wrist watch for his part in the show.

Local Man Held Charles L. Snyder, Sr., 23 Offutt street, is being held in the city jail for Martinsburg, W. Va., authorities on a warrant charging him with non-support. He was arrested here Thursday evening by Officer J. Carl Stouffer.

Sgt. Schoenadel Killed in Plane Crash near Guam

Aerial Gunner Previously Reported Missing by War Department

According to a War department telegram received by his parents last night, Sgt. Edward James Schoenadel, 20, son of Joseph J. and Rose Schoenadel, Narrows Park, was killed in an aircraft accident.

The telegram said that a letter of confirmation would follow. The parents received a message from the War department Thursday afternoon, informing them that Sgt. Schoenadel, their youngest child, was missing following a plane crash in the Guam area.

The Associated Press reported last night that ten officers and men, including Sgt. Schoenadel, were aboard a B-29 bomber, converted for use as a photographic plane, which crashed in the darkness a half mile off shore after taking off from Guam early Tuesday morning. The crash is being investigated by the Twentieth air force.

Member Local Man Missing Member of Sgt. Schoenadel's family reported that recent letters from him said that he and other air force men on Guam were participating in nine-hour flights in search of two planes lost in the Pacific in the last 24 weeks.

Another Cumberlander, Staff Sgt. Edwin H. Nelson, husband of Mrs. Ann Malloy Nelson, 328 Cumberland street, was reported aboard a C-54 plane which is missing. He is a radio operator. A plane searching for the C-54 also disappeared with ten men aboard.

A native of Narrows Park, Sgt. Schoenadel carried the Sunday Times in that section for several years before entering Allegheny high school, where he was a member of the school band. He enlisted in the army air force in April, 1944, when a senior at Allegheny. After graduation he was called to active duty in September, 1944.

Went Overseas in January He was home on a fifteen-day furlough last October, and went overseas to the Guam area in January, serving as an aerial gunner. Before entering service he was employed as a clerk for the Wilson Hardware Company. He was a member of SS, and Paul Catholic church and belonged to the Holy Name Society of the church.

Besides his parents, he is survived by four brothers, George C. Schoenadel, Mt. Savage road; Francis A. Schoenadel, LaVale, who was honorably discharged from the navy last February after serving four months in the Pacific area; Henry J. Schoenadel, Potomac Park; and William J. Schoenadel, at home.

Also surviving are four sisters, Mrs. Pauline Otto, 13 Harrison street; Mrs. Margaret Deffenbaugh, 517 City View terrace; Mrs. Clara Williamson, 1000 Federal street; and Mrs. Katherine Kilroy, 424 North Centre street.

MAHANEY RITES Funeral services for Howard Taylor Mahaney, 67, who died suddenly at his home, 111 Race street, Tuesday afternoon at 10 o'clock in Trinity Methodist church, The Rev. W. Clark Main, pastor of the church, officiated and interment was in Hillcrest cemetery.

Pallbearers were Albert Clark, Fred Simmons, Charles Smith, Harold Fisher, J. Walter McKee and Robert Wade, all members of Cumberland Lodge No. 60, Knights of Pythias, which conducted services at the grave.

MISS FANNIE LONG Miss Fannie Long, 85, died yesterday evening at Sylvan Retreat, where she had been a patient for the past fifteen years.

A native of Vale Summit, Miss Long was a daughter of the late William A. Long. She was the last surviving member of her immediate family.

The body has been taken to the Knight funeral home. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

JOHN E. CLAUSON John Edward Clauson, 73, died yesterday afternoon about 5 o'clock at his home in Corriganville.

He was a native of Ellerslie, son of the late George and LaAnna Shaffer. Mr. Clauson was a member of the Lutheran church.

Besides his widow, Mrs. Clara M. Clauson, whom he married June 19, 1896, he is survived by the following children, William E. and George K. Clauson, both of Corriganville; Oscar H. Clauson, Pittsburgh; Mrs. M. M. Smith, Corriganville, and Mrs. E. M. Beakman, Washington, D. C.

Two sisters, Mrs. William Wolfe, Baltimore Pike, and Mrs. Simon Diehl, Elkins, W. Va., also survive. Funeral services will be conducted Monday at 2 p. m. at the home in Corriganville. Interment will be in Rose Hall cemetery here.

Three Frostburg Youths Sign Up For Navy Duty

Three Frostburg youths, two of whom were carriers for the Cumberland News, and a veteran from Oldtown, enlisted in the navy here, according to Chief Boatwain's Mate Bradford Smith, local navy recruiter, yesterday.

William C. Layman, Jr., 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Layman, 36 Greene street, Frostburg, enlisted for two years as an apprentice seaman. Charles Edward Geis, Jr., 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Geis, 138 Centre street, Frostburg, also enlisted for two years. Both young men graduated from Frostburg high school this month and both have been Cumberland News carriers for the past six years. They were prominent in extra curricular activities at high school, and Geis, one of the tallest boys in the school, was on the basketball, football, and baseball teams in their Sunday school.

The other Frostburg youth is Ralph Turner Hummel, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hummel, enlisted for three years as an apprentice seaman.

Alfred Clair Crutchley, 30, son of Mrs. Effie Pearl Smith, RFD No. 4, Oldtown, re-enlisted as an electrician's mate, third class for three years. He is a veteran of thirty-eight months' prior service. He holds the Asiatic-Pacific, American theater, Good Conduct and Victory ribbons.

Police Investigate Series of Thefts Reported Recently

No trace has been found, police reported last evening, of the person who robbed Glenn E. Nelson, Route 3, Valley road, of from $50 to $60, and a wrist watch in a local restaurant. Police said the empty wallet was later found on the Frederick street B. and O. crossing.

Mrs. Nellie Atwell, 415 Virginia avenue, has reported to police that someone removed a lock from a side door of her store the night of June 6. Police said the intruder was not able to get into the five and ten cent store.

Mrs. Helen Deetz, 209 Knox street, reported that four men's sport shirts were taken from a clothes line at her home the night of June 5.

William Nichols, 513 Decatur street, told police that someone stole a radio he left in the city hall basement Thursday.

Model Airplane Group Plans Meeting Monday

Officers will be elected at a meeting of the Tri-State Knuckbusters' club, to be held Monday at 7:45 p. m. in the adult lounge at Central YMCA. Members are urged to attend.

Plans will be made to attend a model airplane contest to be held in Oakland July 28 under the sponsorship of the West Virginia Model Airplane Club, Charleston, W. Va. The contest will be open to all model plane clubs in this area.

Woman and Baby Killed, Three Injured as Train Hits Car at Hyndman

Coupe Is Dragged 400 Yards by Steam Locomotive after Crash at Bruner's Corner Crossing of B. and O.; Machine "Pleated Like an Accordion," Bystanders Report; Man Is Unconscious

Two persons were killed and three others injured, two of them seriously, when the car in which they were riding was struck by an east-bound Baltimore and Ohio train on the main line crossing in Hyndman, Pa., last night at 8:25 o'clock.

The dead, who were taken to the Zeigler funeral home in Hyndman, were identified as: Miss Evelyn Logsdon, about 15, Hyndman, Pa., who was dead when she was pulled from the wreckage of the car.

Clyde Logsdon, 6-months-old son of Melvin and Nellie Logsdon, Hyndman. He was alive when he was taken from the car but died at 8:45 p. m., at the home of Paul Brode.

Injured admitted to Memorial hospital here were: Homer Troutman, 19 Hyndman, reported to be the driver of the car, who was reported in a good condition at 11:35 p. m., and was suffering from shock but showed no outward injuries.

Unconscious at Midnight: Paul "Butch" MacKenzie, Route 1, Hyndman, who was admitted to the hospital in an unconscious condition. He is suffering from under-terminated injuries and was reported in a "fair" condition. He was still unconscious shortly after midnight.

Mrs. Nellie Logsdon, 30, wife of Melvin Logsdon, Hyndman, and mother of the dead child. At- taches said she was suffering from a possible fracture of the upper right leg and a possible right arm fracture.

Occupants of the car were riding on Route 96 toward their homes in Hyndman when the vehicle was struck on the unprotected crossing by a cattle train coming toward this city from Pittsburgh.

Draged 400 Yards: The steam locomotive struck the right front door of the 1940 Ford coupe at Bruner's corner and dragged the one-seated vehicle beyond the Washington street crossing and past the railroad depot for a distance of 400 yards.

A sign on the crossing indicates that the thoroughfare is protected by a watchman only from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m. The coming of train is indicated by a bell signal, which residents say doesn't always work.

Railroad officials here said the train usually reaches Cumberland about 10 p. m.

Troutman, the driver, was able to walk away from the vehicle when the victims were extricated from the car.

Motor Driven Back: Most seriously injured was MacKenzie, who was sitting on the right of the seat and holding Miss Logsdon, who was killed instantly, on his lap, authorities said. They apparently took the brunt of the terrible crash, but it was reported that MacKenzie's body did not show a scratch.

Bystanders reported the car was "pleated like an accordion" and that the motor was driven back to the seat and the right door driven in as far as the steering wheel.

Demand for City Lots Increases: Because of the increased demand for city-owned lots, the mayor and city council yesterday decided either to receive sealed bids or auction off five lots on Roberts street, which are sought by two men.

Some weeks ago through an attorney, William M. Somerville, F. R. Garland offered $550 for the lots. Later he upped the price to $600.

This week Edgar E. Rice, who Mayor Thomas S. Post said plans to invest $75,000 in an unnamed enterprise at the site, submitted a check for $625. Yesterday Garland appeared before the council with a check for $650.

Soldier In Italy Is Given Divorce From LaVale Wife

Chief Judge William A. Huster yesterday awarded an absolute divorce to a GI now stationed in the province of Laveno, Italy, from his LaVale wife.

The soldier, Stephen L. Lamer Brown, 21, represented by Umer G. Carl, brought proceedings against his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Brown. He was also granted the custody of their son, aged three.

Brown was represented by his mother, Mrs. Laura Virginia Emmer, 38, Rawlings. The soldier's father, S. L. Brown, Cresaptown, also testified in behalf of his son.

The defendant was charged with being unfaithful to her husband. They were married in 1942 and lived in LaVale.

James M. Coker, 25, 329 Central avenue, was granted an absolute divorce from Mrs. Florence R. Coker with the defendant granted the custody of their daughter, Manilla Early, 3.

War Surplus Equipment Expected To Speed Beall High Landscaping

Playing Field Project Will Get Underway Soon, Kopp Says

Mayor Thomas S. Post yesterday requested Commissioner William J. Edwards to be acting mayor Monday, when Mayor Post and Commissioner Myers C. Light will be in Vicksburg, Miss., attending a demonstration of the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood control model.

The two city officials plan to leave for Vicksburg this evening by train from Keyser. V. Va. A tour of inspection of the United States Waterways Experiment Station is scheduled for Monday morning, and the demonstration of the model will be held in the afternoon, according to present plans.

Two Ridgeley councilmen, William D. Bidder and Alexander Kelso, left for Vicksburg late yesterday evening from Keyser by train. The remainder of a Ridgeley group designated by Mayor Odbert R. Poling to make the inspection trip to Vicksburg are scheduled to leave the Cumberland Municipal Airport early tomorrow afternoon in a plane provided by the Celanese Corporation of America.

Former Mayor Going: That group includes Mayor Poling and former Mayor Paul K. Morgan of Ridgeley. J. Paul Blumstein, Keyser, engineer for Ridgeley, J. H. Simmons, chairman of the Ridgeley flood committee and secretary of the Ridgeley planning commission; J. Leo Dougherty, a commission member; and Mr. Steere, an army engineer from Washington, D. C.

Others in the party flying to Mississippi will be John J. McMillen, president of the Times and Alleganian Company, and Fred T. Small, plant manager for the Celanese who was named to the Ridgeley committee.

The plane trip, which is expected to take about four hours, will be made nonstop to Jackson, Miss. The party will be met there by army engineers and taken to Vicksburg. The return trip is expected to be made Tuesday.

Urges Joint Action: The move to send a Ridgeley delegation to Vicksburg developed as a result of recent Cumberland-Ridgeley conference held at the city hall. The meeting was attended by Rep. J. Cumberland Police Plan Fourth of July Traffic Safety Drive: Oscar A. Eyerman, chief of police, announced yesterday that a seasonal traffic enforcement program will be in effect over the Fourth of July weekend in Cumberland. The drive being made here, he explained, in co-operation with the nationwide effort of the National Safety Council to reduce the huge death toll which occurs annually at this time.

The police department, Chief Eyerman said, is asking every citizen to take special care to save life and property over the holiday.

He predicted that traffic will be unusually heavy here during the week, pointing out that many Cumberlandians have been forced to forego vacations for a number of years.

Seek Missing Girl: Police were asked yesterday to locate Dorothy Hess, 18, who is reported missing from her home in Eckhart. Police were told the girl is five feet, eight inches tall, weighs 135 pounds, has brown hair and was wearing a blue and yellow sweater, waist length dark blue coat and brown shoes when last seen.

Council Approves Seeking $150,000 Playground Fund

City Will Ask Authority for Bond Issue from 1947 Legislature

The mayor and city council yesterday went on record as favoring seeking authority from the general assembly to issue $150,000 in bonds toward providing an adequate playground and recreation program for Cumberland.

Commissioner William V. Keegan made the suggestion, which was unopposed. The motion carried with it instructions for Charles Z. Heskett, city attorney, to prepare the necessary papers for submission to the 1947 session of the legislature.

Supervisor's Duties Cited: Keegan's suggestion came after the council had approved a list of play leader appointments recommended by the park board. In answer to a question by Keegan Mayor Post explained the supervisor, Mrs. Ralph Stein, who will receive $114 monthly, will visit each playground twice daily and see that a suggested program is carried out.

Commissioner Myers C. Light commented on the fine support the city is receiving from residents of the section in establishing a playground for children under the age of 12 years at Columbia Street school. He said the $50 already has been raised for the construction of a shelter and that more money is expected. It will be used to help buy equipment. Mayor Post said the proposed location of a field off Independence street had not proved to be practical.

Leaders Appointed: The wage for play leaders was fixed at $18.50 weekly for five days. Light said he will check to determine if playgrounds should be kept open Saturday. The following leaders were appointed:

Bettie E. Kingston and Miss Emma L. Clark, North End; Mrs. Margaret Enlow and Mrs. Inez Dixon, Pennsylvania Avenue; Ruth Ann Richards and Nola Lee Barbard, Mt. Royal; Mrs. Frances Frey and Mrs. Betty Frey, East Side; Odessa Neal and Mrs. Paul Burk, West Side; Mrs. Rodger Koegel and Mary Jane Ervin, Gephart; Mrs. Ruth Arnold, Columbia street, and Daisy M. Darr, Pine Avenue.

Melvin Washington was named utility man at Pine Avenue at a wage of $19.50 weekly.

Commissioners Accept Invitation To Help Speed Work on Dam: An invitation from Mark W. Roe, chairman of the Upper Potomac River board, to join the group in efforts to speed completion of the Savage River dam and methods of diverting pollution of the river was accepted yesterday by the board of county commissioners.

Chairman Roe said a meeting of the board and the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin will be held soon, and urged the commissioners to join the group in the discussions. He said that army engineers have recently completed a re-survey of the area and recommended steps to complete the dam and to alleviate pollution of the river.

69-Year-Old Man Escapes Injury When Hit by Cab: A 69-year-old man apparently escaped injury yesterday morning about 10 o'clock when he was struck by a taxicab at the intersection of Virginia and Laing avenues, police reported.

Police said William Keller, 420 Cedar street, was examined in Memorial hospital for possible right hip injuries, but X-rays indicated the bone was not fractured, and the man was able to return to his home.

Detective Edwin R. Lilya, who investigated, said witnesses said Keller had started to cross the street when he was struck by the backing cab. Lilya said he was told the cab was driven by Dewey Shoemaker. No charges were preferred.

State Secretary Says Registration Law Applies Here

Chaney Rules Non-voting Registered Voters Must Re-register

The law enacted last year by the legislature whereby voters who have not cast ballots in five years must re-register in order to vote in the primary June 24 and the general election in November applies to Allegany county and is a state-wide measure, Secretary of State Edward G. Chaney said yesterday.

The secretary of state said the law provides that all persons on the registration books should be notified by the various county boards of election supervisors before June 18 and advised that they must re-register in order to vote this year.

Chaney said that a check of his records from the counties show "there is nothing to indicate any such action has been taken in Allegany county."

Have Continuous System: Chaney said that Baltimore city, Montgomery and Washington counties have a continuous system of registration, and that persons may register at any time. In other counties, including Allegany, certain days are set aside for registration and the election supervisors, under the 1945 act, are required to check the books and determine the number of persons who have failed to cast ballots in the last five years. Before their names can be stricken from the election books, they must be notified by the board that they have an opportunity to re-register on June 18.

Many voters in the county have been uncertain on their status and the Allegany election supervisors Tuesday night declined to make any statement on the question, saying that they would await an opinion by Edward J. Ryan, attorney to the board.

Chaney said that night that persons who had not voted for five years will be allowed to vote in the primary regardless of the statement by the secretary of state.

The attorney suggested, however, that it was not advisable for Allegany county citizens who have not voted in five years to re-register after the primary if they wish to vote in the general election in November.

Ryan Thinks It Unfair: Ryan said last night, "You can quote me as saying that I do not think it is fair to the voters to have any wholesale striking off of names out of a clear blue sky. The right of franchise, in my opinion, is one of the few remaining privileges that we have left. It is too important to jeopardize this right without giving the voters a full opportunity to become acquainted with this new law."

Previously, Ryan had held in his opinion that the law would not be effective in Allegany county. The attorney to the board of election supervisors in Frederick county said he was of the same opinion as Ryan.

Opinions differ as to what percentage of voters in the county have not voted in five years. Ryan estimated between twenty and twenty-five per cent. However, members of the board of election supervisors are of the opinion this estimate is high, claiming that an unusually large number of voters in the last presidential election and the Jackson-O'Connor gubernatorial race brought out many voters who had not voted prior to that time.

State Police Here Arrest Five More On Motor Charges: Five motor vehicle law violations cases were docketed in trial magistrates court yesterday, with one acquittal, two convictions and two bond forfeitures resulting.

Courtney H. Kessel, Long, was found not guilty by Magistrate Frank A. Pender on charges of failing to stop at a stop sign at North Centre and Franklin streets.

He was arrested by State Trooper William McElfish.

Raymond Sloan Poland, of Frostburg, paid $5.75 after he pleaded guilty to speeding on Route 220 at the Celanese plant Tuesday, and Joseph E. Winfield, of Route 3, this city, was fined $1.75 for failing to halt at a stop sign at the intersection of Front street and Baltimore avenue last Friday. Trooper William McElfish and Glen D. Folk preferred the charges.

Homer Troutman, of Hyndman, Pa., forfeited $6.45 for failing to stop at a stop sign at the intersection of Route 40 and Mt. Savage road on Tuesday, and Robert Hillis Mayer, of Route 1, this city, forfeited $6.45 for failing to heed a stop sign on Route 220 at Cresaptown yesterday. Trooper McElfish made the arrests.

Cumberlander Is Heard On "People Are Funny" Radio Broadcast: Cumberland received a "plug" on a national radio show last night, when one of the city's well known young soldier-citizens "got socked in the face with a pie."

On the "People Are Funny" show, one of the participants was Capt. Armon Silverstri, formerly prominent at Rosenbaum's store here for a number of years prior to entering the service at the outbreak of the war.

Sgt. Schoenadel Killed in Plane Crash near Guam

Aerial Gunner Previously Reported Missing by War Department

According to a War department telegram received by his parents last night, Sgt. Edward James Schoenadel, 20, son of Joseph J. and Rose Schoenadel, Narrows Park, was killed on the island of Guam Tuesday in an aircraft accident.

The telegram said that a letter of confirmation would follow. The parent received a message from the War Department Thursday afternoon, informing them that Sgt. Schoenadel, their youngest child, was missing following a plane crash in the Guam area.

The Associated Press reported last night that ten officers and men, including Sgt. Schoenadel, were aboard a B-29 bomber, converted for use as a photographic plane, which crashed in the darkness a half mile off shore after taking off from Guam early Tuesday morning. The crash is being investigated by the Twentieth air force.

Another Local Man Missing: Members of Sgt. Schoenadel's family reported that recent letters from him said that he and other air force men on Guam were participating in nine-hour flights in search of two planes lost in the Pacific in the last three weeks.

Another Cumberlander, Staff Sgt. Edwin H. Nelson, husband of Mrs. Ann Malloy Nelson, 328 Cumberland street, was reported aboard a C-54 plane which is missing. He is a radio operator. A plane searching for the C-54 has not disappeared with ten men aboard.

A native of Narrows Park, Sgt. Schoenadel carried the Sunday Times in that section for several years before entering Allegany high school, where he was a member of the school band. He enlisted in the army air forces in April, 1944, while a senior at Allegany. After graduation he was called to active duty in September, 1944.

He was home on a fifteen-day furlough last October, and went overseas to the Guam area in January, serving as an aerial gunner. Before entering service he was employed as a clerk for the Wilson Hardware Company. He was a member of SS. Peter and Paul Catholic church and belonged to the Holy Name Society of the church.

Besides his parents, he survived by his brothers, George C. Schoenadel, Mt. Savage road; Francis A. Schoenadel, LaVale, who was honorably discharged from the navy last February after serving four months in the Pacific area; Henry J. Schoenadel, 1000 Frederick street; and William J. Schoenadel, at home.

Also surviving are four sisters, Mrs. Pauline Otto, 13 Harrison street; Mrs. Margaret Deibaugh, 1000 Frederick street; Mrs. Clara Williamson, 1000 Frederick street; and Mrs. Katherine Kilroy, 424 North Centre street.

MAHANEY RITES: Funeral services for Howard Taylor Mahaney, 67, who died suddenly at his home, 111 Race street, Tuesday morning, were conducted yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock in St. Clare's church. The Rev. W. Clark Main, pastor of the church, officiated and interment was in Hillcrest cemetery.

Palbearers were Albert Clark, Floyd Simmons, Charles Smith, Harold Fishell, J. Walter McKee and Robert Wade, all members of Cumberland Lodge No. 60, Knights of Pythias, which conducted services at the grave.

MISS FANNIE LONG: Miss Fannie Long, 85, died yesterday evening at Sylvan Retreat, where she had been a patient for the past fifteen years.

A native of Vale Summit, Miss Long was a daughter of the late William and Athia L. Long. She was the last surviving member of her immediate family. Several nieces and nephews survive.

The body has been taken to the Knight funeral home. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

JOHN E. CLAUSON: John Edward Clauson, 73, died yesterday afternoon about 5 o'clock at his home in Baltimore. He was a native of Ellerslie, a son of the late George and LaAnna Shaffer. Mr. Clauson was a member of the Lutheran church.

Besides his widow, Mrs. Clara M. Clauson, whom he married June 19, 1896, he is survived by the following children, William E. and George K. Clauson, both of Corri-ganville; Oscar H. Clauson, Pittsburgh; Mrs. M. M. Smith, Corri-ganville; and Mrs. E. M. Beakman, Washington, D. C.

Two sisters, Mrs. William Wolfe, Baltimore Pike, and Mrs. Simon Diehl, Elkins, W. Va., also survive. Funeral services will be conducted Monday at 2 p. m. at the home in Corri-ganville and interment will be in Rose Hill cemetery here.

Retired Farmer Dies in Hospital

David A. King, 80, Accident, Was Native of Terra Alta, W. Va.

David A. King, 80, retired Accident farmer and father of Russell H. King, 211 Beall street, this city, died last evening in Memorial hospital.

He was born August 19, 1865, in Terra Alta, Frederick county, W. Va., a son of the late Edward P. King and Mary A. Freeland King. He had operated a farm in Accident since 1919 and retired two years ago.

Mr. King married Virginia R. Dodge, Terra Alta, and her death, about 1904, married Olive Bolyard, Sinclair, W. Va.

Besides his widow, Mrs. Olive Bolyard King and his son here he is survived by another son, Orus M. King, Evans City, Pa., three daughters, Mrs. Charles Walther, Pottstown, Pa.; Mrs. Homer Pike, Route 2, Oakland, and Mrs. John Hagenbuch, Hyattsville, and thirteen grandchildren. Another son, Charles E. King, died at the age of 16.

Funeral services will be conducted Monday in the Church of the Brethren, Accident, by the pastor, the Rev. Alonzo Pike, and interment will be in the church cemetery.

Second Payment Of Income Taxes Is Due Today: Today is the last day for second payment on estimated income tax, according to Richard J. Stakem, division chief of the Bureau of Internal Revenue here.

Stakem also explained that "lucky people" who have piled up bingo party or 50-50 club winnings, or who hit the numbers of baseball pools for more than $100 in the last few months will be required to account to Uncle Sam for a part of their fortune.

Winners in lotteries, in addition to persons who sold real estate at a profit, and have not yet filed a declaration of estimated income for 1946, must file this declaration not later than today.

Veterans who have returned to civilian life since March 15, and have started in business for themselves are also required to file declarations.

Persons employed by a firm which withholds a part of wages for income tax are not required to declare their estimated incomes, Stakem said.

Notices have been sent to taxpayers calling for the second payment, which can be made in the local internal revenue office, third floor of the postoffice building.

Police Investigate Series of Thefts Reported Recently: No trace has been found, police reported last evening, of the person who robbed Glenn F. Nelson, Route 3, Valley road, of from $50 to $60 and a wrist watch in a local restaurant. Decoration day. Police said the entry wallet was later found on the Frederick street B. and O. crossing.

Mrs. Nellie Atwell, 415 Virginia avenue, has reported to police that someone removed a lock from a side door of her store the night of June 6. Police said the intruder was not able to get into the five and ten cent store.

Mrs. Helen Deets, 209 Knox street, reported that four men's sport coats were taken from a clothes line at her home the night of June 5.

William Nichols, 513 Decatur street, told police that someone stole a radio he left in the city hall basement Thursday.

Model Airplane Group Plans Meeting Monday: Officers will be elected at a meeting of the Tri-State Knuckelbushers' club, to be held Monday at 7:45 p. m. in the adult lounge at Central YMCA. Members are urged to attend.

Plans will be made to attend a model airplane contest to be held in Oakland July 28 at the request of the West Virginia Model Airplane Club, Clarksburg, W. Va. The contest will be open to all model plane clubs in this area.
